New Parley Opened On A-Test Ban

Appears Doomed; 'Pure Propaganda,' West Officials Say

GENEVA (AP) — The United States, Britain and the Soviet Union today began another round of talks on a nuclear test ban that appear doomed to failure from the start.

One Western official called the resumption of negotiations "a pure propaganda exercise."

High Western sources said East and West were farther away from a treaty for a controlled ban on nuclear testing than at any time since they first began negotiating on Oct. 31, 1958.

The talks were resumed in response to the demand of an overwhelming majority of the U.N. General Assembly. They had been broken off by the Soviet Union's abrupt resumption of nuclear testing last September.

On the eve of the new session, the Soviets published a new treaty draft which, in the view of Western officials, sounded the death knell to any hopes for a treaty at this time.

The Russians in effect ruled out any realistic prospect of an international control and inspection system to prevent secret violations. Without such a system, the West says, any nuclear test ban is unacceptable because there can be no assurance against cheating.

The Soviet draft also sought to prevent the United States from continuing underground nuclear tests, launched after the start of the recent Soviet series—or of matching Soviet advances in nuclear weapons with its own tests in the atmosphere. The United States and Britain were considered certain to reject such an obvious trick intended primarily as a propaganda gesture to fallout-fearful nations in Asia and Africa.

Despite the lack of prospects for progress, both Soviet and Western representatives apparently were prepared to go on talking indefinitely rather than be accused of refusing to negotiate.

"We are dealing with a very fundamental issue of national policy on a matter that affects the entire world, said one high Western official. "We can never refuse to talk about it.

"Maybe, in the course of time, we can work something out. The real problem at present is that they don't trust us and we don't trust them."

The Soviet draft also renewed demands to merge the test ban talks with general disarmament negotiations, and the high Western official said the United States and Britain probably would eventually have to accede to the Soviet insistence on this.

The United States and Britain have consistently objected to linking the two. They envisage a controlled test ban as a start toward general disarmament, which is an endless subject that has been under East-West negotiation for 16 years.

Ex-Prosecutor Attacked

Pietranton Hurt Resisting 2 Men Attempting Holdup

Former Hancock County Prosecutor Frank A. Pietranton was the victim of an attempted armed robbery and assault by two young thugs early Monday night.

Atty. Pietranton, 46, resisted the attempted robbery but was injured when beaten with a wooden object in scuffing with the thugs as he returned to his home in the Pughtown area.

HE WAS accosted at 6:40 by a young pair who had blocked a rural road with their auto as an apparent ruse to lure him from his car.

Pietranton, who served two terms as county prosecutor from 1948-1952 and 1956-1960, is in "good" condition today in Weirton General Hospital with a possible skull concussion and fractured knee.

He told West Virginia State Police he had turned off Route 66 onto a secondary road leading to the Glendale Rd. area when he came upon an old car halted in the middle of the road.

—:—

THE AUTO appeared to be disabled and the trunk lid was open. Inquiring if aid was needed, Pietranton was confronted with an automatic pistol by one of the thugs and was told, "I want your car, get out'."

Beats Off 2 Armed Thugs.

While held off by the thug with the pistol, the other man slipped behind Pietranton and struck him in the head several times with a wooden object, State Police said.

The blows dazed the Weirton attorney, but he was able to resist an attempted robbery and search of his clothing.

A SCUFFLE followed and Pietranton was rolled into a ditch along the rural road, dazed, but still conscious enough to furnish a brief description of his attackers to police.

Atty. Pietranton said the thug who flashed the gun in his face as he rolled down his car window to inquire if aid was needed was about 5-foot-9, weighed 135-140 and was between 18 and 22. He was dressed in a black jacket, dark trousers and cap.

The second man was about the same age and build, and was wearing khaki type clothing, he told police.

—:—

THEY SPED away in a car which Pietranton described as an early model. It apparently had a hole in the muffler because of the noise it made, he said.

He reported the assault to Hancock County sheriff's deputies and State Police in Weirton.

State Police said several suspects were being "checked out" today. They said the assault appeared to be "nothing more than a robbery attempt, with nothing to indicate an attack on Atty. Pietranton personally."

He never carries a great amount of money on his person, State Police said.

2 Hancock County Commissioners Get Warrant For Entry

West Virginia State Police, armed with a search and seizure warrant obtained by two Hancock County commissioners, raided the Club Paddock late Monday night and confiscated a quantity of liquor and slot machines.

Commissioners Lyle F. Virden of Pughtown and James Finley of Weirton obtained the warrant from Squire John S. Bryan of New Cumberland in acting on "numerous complaints" of illegal activities at the Route 30 tavern near Chester.

Troopers D. L. Lake and T. S. Chidester from the Weirton Barracks executed the warrant at 11:30 last night, citing Arthur E. Lewis, 43, of Route 30 Chester, on two charges.

The officers also confiscated four slot machines and eight fifths of whisky from the bar in the downstairs of the plush, two-story stone building which is across the highway from notorious Club 30, closed several years ago.

Lewis, in charge of the premises at the time of the raid, was cited on charges of keeping and exhibiting gaming devices and possession of alcoholic liquor on licensed premises.

The charge of keeping and exhibiting gaming devices — the slot machines — was filed under the warrant signed by Virden, county commissioner from Clay District.

Trooper Lake said he will file the charge of illegal possession of alcoholic liquor as a "sight" violation. Sale of liquor is prohibited in West Virginia by state law, although the tavern is licensed to sell non-intoxicating beer, State Police said.

A hearing scheduled this morning at 10 for Lewis was continued by Squire Bryan until Monday night at 7. Lewis posted $500 bond on each charge.

The officers confiscated a 50-cent slot machine, a quarter machine, a dime machine and a five-center, while about 12 to 15 cus-

Bowles Takes New Post As Special Kennedy Aide

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chester Bowles, replaced as the No. 2 man in the State Department, has accepted a diplomatic post especially tailored for him.

He becomes President Kennedy's special representative and adviser on African, Asian and Latin American affairs, with special emphasis on the problems of new and developing nations.

The announcement late Monday from the White House that Bowles had accepted the new duties came after Kennedy called him in for a talk. It stilled reports that Bowles would quit after being replaced as undersecretary of state in a weekend shakeup of foreign policy command.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said Bowles will report directly to Kennedy and to Secretary of State Dean Rusk on long-range planning and policy and "on the improvement of our operation and representation in the countries involved."

Bowles had indicated he preferred dealing with policy and planning rather than handling the routine day-to-day chores of running the State Department which more or less was his assignment as undersecretary.

"The President is delighted to have Mr. Bowles devoting his full time and attention to these new and greater responsibilities in an area he considers second to none in importance," said Salinger.

Bowles will hold the rank of ambassador but Salinger described the position as a brand new one and not comparable to the roving ambassadorship held by W. Averell Harriman.

Harriman, one of 10 officials to receive new assignments in the biggest personnel change in the Kennedy administration thus far, becomes an assistant secretary of state. George W. Ball, who had been undersecretary of state for economic affairs, replaced Bowles.

No salary for Bowles has been announced but Salinger said it would be "commensurate with the importance of his post." It was reported that Bowles would receive an increase over his $22,500 pay as undersecretary.

Hits Communistic Theories

Kennedy Declares Soviet Efforts Root Of Tension

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy told Izvestia editor Alexei Adzhubei in an interview published today that the root of East-West conflict is the Soviet's efforts "to communize, in a sense, the entire world."

The interview was published today by the Soviet government paper and made public by the White House.

In it Kennedy told Adzhubei, son-in-law of Premier Khrushchev:

"If the Soviet Union were merely seeking to protect its own national interests, to protect its own national security and would permit countries to live as they wish —to live in peace—then I believe that the problems which now cause so much tension would fade away."

Kennedy said Americans want the Soviet people as well as themselves to be able to live in peace.

"It is this effort to push outward the Communist system, on to country after country, that represents, I think, the great threat to peace," Kennedy said.

"If the Soviet Union looked only to its national interest and to providing a better life for its people under conditions of peace, I think there would be nothing that would disturb the relations between the Soviet Union and the United States."

The lengthy interview, which took place last Saturday at Kennedy's home in Hyannis Port, Mass., was as much dialogue as a question-and-answer session.

To Kennedy's comment on the Soviet's attempt to spread its system around the world, Adzhubei replied, "I cannot agree with you in that part of your answer where you are saying that we are trying to 'communize' the world."

Adzhubei said the Communist party congress last month declared "that we are against any export of the revolution, but we are also against any export of counterrevolution."

He told Kennedy that from the Soviet viewpoint, the United States is interfering in the affairs of many other countries.

In response to Adzhubei's remarks, Kennedy said he did not want to get into a debate. But he asserted that the United States wants every nation to have the right to make a free choice as to its government.

The President noted that in the beginning the great majority of Cubans supported the revolution led by Fidel Castro, but he said Castro has failed to keep his commitments on free elections and progress.

Until Castro permits free and honest elections, Kennedy said, his regime cannot claim to represent the majority.

Better U.S.-Soviet Ties Hinged To Berlin

MOSCOW (AP)—President Kennedy told Soviet editor Alexei Adzhubei in an interview published today that a settlement of the Berlin issue would bring about an immediate improvement in American-Soviet relations in all other fields.

The interview was given by the President to the editor of Izvestia, which printed it in 10 solid columns today.

'Clay Pigeon' Property Hit Again By Car

Klondyke's "clay pigeon," a property at the right-angle turn at Harvey Ave. and Elizabeth St. damaged repeatedly by autos, was hit again early today, police reported.

This time the damage at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Teixeira, 1804 Harvey Ave., was comparatively light.

A Midland man's auto went off the street and rammed into hedges at the property line near the street, also knocking down a wire fence, officers said.

The crash was timed at 1:14 this morning. Robert B. Skinner, 23, of 136 Midland Ave., told police the A-frame — a wheel support — dropped off his 1954 sedan as he rounded the turn about 25 miles an hour, headed from Elizabeth St. onto Harvey Ave. He applied the brakes, but the car skidded into the fence and hedge, he said.

The Teixeira property has been hit repeatedly over the years by vehicles going out of control on the sharp turn. The damage has varied from negligible to heavy.

Meanwhile, a belated report was filed on a collision Saturday at 9:02 p. m. on E. 5th St. at Sugar St.

It involved a 1954 two-door sedan driven by Robert C. Kidd, 17, of 911 St. George St. and a 1955 two-door operated by Donald L. Scott, 30, of Russell Heights, Wellsville.

Kidd said he was driving east on E. 5th, rounding the turn at Sugar St., when his hand slipped off the steering wheel, causing his car to cross the center line and hit Scott's westbound car.

Chimp Slated For Ride On Orbit Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Sometime after dawn Wednesday a young chimpanzee, plucked from the forests of Africa, will enter a mighty rocket for a whirlwind ride through space—three times around the world.

If all goes well, a U.S. astronaut will ride another Atlas rocket into space for another 4½ hour ring around the globe—perhaps after Christmas, perhaps after New Years.

Perhaps half an hour after the Atlas blazes into the sky, the chosen chimpanzee will pass over his native Africa for the first of three times.

The chimp will be performing his space tasks, tripping levers on signal from a control panel, despite the brutal press of acceleration and the confusing sense of weightlessness.

They will make a strange pair as they blast off from this spaceport—a 125-ton rocket and a 40-pound chimpanzee.

Then the Atlas will drop away and the chimp, locked inside a

Rockefeller Gives Up Hunt For His Son

Must Be Realistic, Governor Says On Starting For Home

HOLLANDIA, Dutch New Guinea (AP)—New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller today abandoned his fruitless personal search for his youngest son Michael in the treacherous New Guinea jungle and began the long, sad journey home.

"The chances of finding Mike are greatly diminished," Rockefeller told newsmen as he left the search headquarters in Merauke, on the south coast of Dutch New Guinea.

"A miracle could happen and perhaps it will. But we must be realistic. The hope is very small," the governor said.

The governor's 23-year-old son has been missing since his native catamaran raft capsized off the swampy jungle south coast area and he tried to swim to the shore 3½ miles away on Nov. 19.

Skinner, 23, of 136 Midland Ave., told police the A-frame — a wheel support — dropped off his 1954 sedan as he rounded the turn about 25 miles an hour, headed from Elizabeth St. onto Harvey Ave. He applied the brakes, but the car skidded into the fence and hedge, he said.

The Teixeira property has been hit repeatedly over the years by vehicles going out of control on the sharp turn. The damage has varied from negligible to heavy.

Meanwhile, a belated report was filed on a collision Saturday at 9:02 p. m. on E. 5th St. at Sugar St.

It involved a 1954 two-door sedan driven by Robert C. Kidd, 17, of 911 St. George St. and a 1955 two-door operated by Donald L. Scott, 30, of Russell Heights, Wellsville.

Kidd said he was driving east on E. 5th, rounding the turn at Sugar St., when his hand slipped off the steering wheel, causing his car to cross the center line and hit Scott's westbound car.

Chimp Slated For Ride On Orbit Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Sometime after dawn Wednesday a young chimpanzee, plucked from the forests of Africa, will enter a mighty rocket for a whirlwind ride through space—three times around the world.

If all goes well, a U.S. astronaut will ride another Atlas rocket into space for another 4½ hour ring around the globe—perhaps after Christmas, perhaps after New Years.

Perhaps half an hour after the Atlas blazes into the sky, the chosen chimpanzee will pass over his native Africa for the first of three times.

The chimp will be performing his space tasks, tripping levers on signal from a control panel, despite the brutal press of acceleration and the confusing sense of weightlessness.

They will make a strange pair as they blast off from this spaceport—a 125-ton rocket and a 40-pound chimpanzee.

Then the Atlas will drop away and the chimp, locked inside a

Rockefeller Gives Up Hunt For His Son

Must Be Realistic, Governor Says On Starting For Home

HOLLANDIA, Dutch New Guinea (AP)—New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller today abandoned his fruitless personal search for his youngest son Michael in the treacherous New Guinea jungle and began the long, sad journey home.

"The chances of finding Mike are greatly diminished," Rockefeller told newsmen as he left the search headquarters in Merauke, on the south coast of Dutch New Guinea.

"A miracle could happen and perhaps it will. But we must be realistic. The hope is very small," the governor said.

The governor's 23-year-old son has been missing since his native catamaran raft capsized off the swampy jungle south coast area and he tried to swim to the shore 3½ miles away on Nov. 19.

Beaver Local Raises Slated

Board Makes Plans For Sale Of Bonds

Preparations for the sale of a $253,000 bond issue for Beaver Local School building improvements and salary increases for teachers and administrators were approved by the Board of Education Monday night.

Some 80 teachers were granted a $100 salary hike effective Jan. 1 under the state foundation program. The teachers are also expected to get a pay increment next fall, ranging from $100 to $130 based on their pay schedules.

Administrators also received a pay increase, averaging about $400, partly from state foundation funds. It was pointed out the administrators did not get a pay hike when the faculty staff got a salary increase earlier this year.

Squire, Sanders & Dempsey of Cleveland was designated as the legal counsel for the sale of the bonds.

The board also approved action

Raid

tomers at the bar watched the proceedings until advised that the establishment was temporarily closed.

Police spotted the quantity of liquor at the bar and carted it off with the slot machines to the State Police headquarters in Weirton.

As the search and seizure warrant signed by Virden authorized that only the Club Paddock be searched by State Police, the two officers did not have the authority to enter the upstairs.

The upstairs is reported to be the scene of gambling operations on a much larger scale, with elaborate equipment for games of barbout, dice and slot machines and cards.

The second-story of the tavern, known in Hancock County circles as the "Jockey Club," is not connected by either stairway or door to the Club Paddock in the downstairs, State Police said.

They added the "Jockey Club" is licensed separately, and operated by another party, and in order to be searched, a specific warrant would have to be obtained.

State Police said they will seek to have Lewis sign a waiver of destruction, which would authorize them to destroy the "one-armed bandits."

If Lewis refuses to sign the waiver, an order will be obtained from Circuit Court Judge Ralph Pryor authorizing them to smash the slot machines, State Police said.

The commissioners obtained the warrant in "acting on lots of complaints," although they did not identify them.

Finley and Virden appeared together before Squire Bryan in New Cumberland to obtain the warrant, although only the signature of one was necessary, State Police explained. Virden signed.

National Red Cross To Aid Hancock Chapter With Grant

The North Hancock County Red Cross Chapter has been granted aid from the national organization, assuring it enough funds to continue operating this year.

Mrs. Ruth Sprouse, executive secretary, said the national unit has approved the Newell chapter's request for aid, and provided a grant of $505.

Approval of the request was announced by Mary Catherine Brady of Steubenville, field representative, at the chapter's meeting Monday night in the Aaron Building in Newell. Nineteen attended.

The grant assures enough funds will be available for operations this year, with the chapter to continue activities on a reduced basis.

The chapter's treasury had dipped so low recently that officials were considering closing the office or else have the chapter merge with another in a nearby city.

Mrs. Sprouse's salary will be restored by half, meaning that she will receive $75 monthly for her services. She had worked since Nov. 15 as a volunteer.

The grant will meet only mandatory needs and operations will continue to be on a limited basis until early in 1962, she said. Volunteers will continue to train in office work.

Robert B. Smith of Phaeton Ave., Chester, salesman for the Kennedy Office Supply Co., was named chairman for the chapter's annual fund - raising campaign which opens in March.

The chapter serves Newell, Chester, Pughtown and New Cumberland.

Election of new officers was postponed until Jan. 15. The Rev. William H. Flurkey of Pughtown is chapter chairman. Mrs. J. Donald Thompson, volunteer consultant for the area, also was a guest.

tomers at the bar watched the proceedings until advised that the establishment was temporarily closed.

Police spotted the quantity of liquor at the bar and carted it off with the slot machines to the State Police headquarters in Weirton.

As the search and seizure warrant signed by Virden authorized that only the Club Paddock be searched by State Police, the two officers did not have the authority to enter the upstairs.

The upstairs is reported to be the scene of gambling operations on a much larger scale, with elaborate equipment for games of barbout, dice and slot machines and cards.

The second-story of the tavern, known in Hancock County circles as the "Jockey Club," is not connected by either stairway or door to the Club Paddock in the downstairs, State Police said.

They added the "Jockey Club" is licensed separately, and operated by another party, and in order to be searched, a specific warrant would have to be obtained.

State Police said they will seek to have Lewis sign a waiver of destruction, which would authorize them to destroy the "one-armed bandits."

If Lewis refuses to sign the waiver, an order will be obtained from Circuit Court Judge Ralph Pryor authorizing them to smash the slot machines, State Police said.

The commissioners obtained the warrant in "acting on lots of complaints," although they did not identify them.

Finley and Virden appeared together before Squire Bryan in New Cumberland to obtain the warrant, although only the signature of one was necessary, State Police explained. Virden signed.

National Red Cross To Aid Hancock Chapter With Grant

The North Hancock County Red Cross Chapter has been granted aid from the national organization, assuring it enough funds to continue operating this year.

Mrs. Ruth Sprouse, executive secretary, said the national unit has approved the Newell chapter's request for aid, and provided a grant of $505.

Approval of the request was announced by Mary Catherine Brady of Steubenville, field representative, at the chapter's meeting Monday night in the Aaron Building in Newell. Nineteen attended.

The grant assures enough funds will be available for operations this year, with the chapter to continue activities on a reduced basis.

The chapter's treasury had dipped so low recently that officials were considering closing the office or else have the chapter merge with another in a nearby city.

Mrs. Sprouse's salary will be restored by half, meaning that she will receive $75 monthly for her services. She had worked since Nov. 15 as a volunteer.

The grant will meet only mandatory needs and operations will continue to be on a limited basis until early in 1962, she said. Volunteers will continue to train in office work.

Robert B. Smith of Phaeton Ave., Chester, salesman for the Kennedy Office Supply Co., was named chairman for the chapter's annual fund - raising campaign which opens in March.

The chapter serves Newell, Chester, Pughtown and New Cumberland.

Election of new officers was postponed until Jan. 15. The Rev. William H. Flurkey of Pughtown is chapter chairman. Mrs. J. Donald Thompson, volunteer consultant for the area, also was a guest.

Transition In Mental Health

Whatever the current standings of the principals in the fight over financing Ohio's mental health efforts, it is a good idea for Ohioans to remind themselves that more is involved than a "crash" program to see how much money can be spent.

Long-range policies in public programs are hard to sell and harder to maintain. But the wrangle between Gov. DiSalle and the Republican leaders of the General Assembly concerns one phase of a long-range policy.

It was initiated by a GOP-controlled legislature in the mid-1950s when Frank J. Lausche was governor. The plan was to build more buildings and hire more people to shift the emphasis from custodial care in long-term mental institutions to rehabilitative treatment over shorter periods of time.

Although the immediate cost of intensive treatment would be higher than custodial care, the new concept was expected to be cheaper in money and more rewarding in human lives than the old one—over the long term.

OHIO VOTERS put the plan into operation with the approval of a $150 million bond issue, part of which went to finance buildings. The Legislature, still in Republican hands, expanded appropriations to finance the new personnel program. The whole campaign continued during the administration of Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill.

These facts have been cited by both sides in the current battle over money. Gov. DiSalle says the investment in new buildings will not pay off unless more money is appropriated for skilled personnel. Republican legislators say there is no point in appropriating money for personnel that is not immediately available.

Perhaps the basic trouble is that everybody has forgotten the program is a long-range one. The transition from the old concept to the new one still is in progress.

It obviously has not advanced to the point where significant gains have been made in cutting down on custodial care, although achievements have been made. And significant gains cannot be realized unless the upgrading of quick, effective treatment continues.

COST OF financing both kinds of care is high. It would be unwise to scuttle the new concept by deciding now we can't afford it, but it also would be unwise to allow the costs to soar beyond necessity.

Politically, both Gov. DiSalle and his Republican adversaries have points in their favor in the budget argument.

They do a disservice to all Ohioans as well as to each other when they made it appear that one group is pulling harder than the other in the effort to bring to reality a mental health concept as valid now as it was conceived to be half a dozen years ago.

Everybody ought to be working together on mental health.

When It's Time To Be Counted

Tempers are going to be frayed over a dispute shaping up in Cleveland.

Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co., a tax-paying utility operated for profit, is willing and ready to supply current for Cleveland's grandiose Erieview project, a bold venture in downtown rehabilitation.

But the city's municipal light plant, darling of the public ownership crowd that has burrowed into local government, will be expanded by 25 per cent to furnish current for Erieview, if Bronis J. Klementowicz has his way. Klementowicz is city utilities director.

Never was the issue between creeping socialism and progressive capitalism joined more precisely.

Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. is in business to make money. Its prospects of making money are geared to its ability to provide service efficiently. It has been doing a good job. It has provided service; it has made money.

Cleveland's municipal light plant is not in business to make money. Its prospects of continuing in operation have nothing to do with money. They are geared to the plant's nuisance value in a field of enterprise that otherwise would be served entirely by private enterprise.

WHETHER the Cleveland municipal plant gives good service has no bearing on its survival. It exists to remind private enterprise that public ownership is an enduring threat to the existence of private enterprise.

What possible reason could there be for a publicly owned plant to be expanded to serve the electric power needs of a project to rehabilitate downtown Cleveland?

The very essence of the project is to give private enterprise a chance to show what it can do with energy and imagination.

Yet, no sooner does the project take form than the socialists jump on its back. Nor is this an isolated case.

The same people with the same thoughts have dedicated their best efforts to ruining the railroads, obviously in the hope of taking them over as a political grab-bag if all their profits can be taken away.

The same people with the same thoughts have resisted all efforts to revise the punitive tax laws of the United States to give private enterprise a leg up instead of a slap down.

The same people with the same thoughts have crowded into one of the most fascinating opportunities for private enterprise — the use of earth satellites to speed up transocean communications. They are mumbling about turning this historic project into another bureaucratic bungle.

THOUGH MISUSE of the power to tax and regulate they have twined their fingers around the throat of private enterprise wherever they could hurt it.

They scorn the billions of dollars in taxes paid annually by the profit system, because they have their eye on the main income. If they could add that to their pork barrels they could make socialism the best-paying enterprise in the United States.

They do not believe in private enterprise. They do not believe in profit.

They believe in political control of everything. In Cleveland, where they already run public transportation, it is not surprising they should think the Erieview project's electricity should belong to them, too.

The fight will fray tempers in Cleveland. It will fray tempers from coast to coast — tempers already rubbed raw by evidence that the private enterprise system in the United States is under systematic attack by people who don't believe in it.

When it's time to be counted they always crawl out of the woodwork — to be counted on the side of socialism.

The Once Over

Question of who is boss in Washington is settled. He is John Fitzgerald Kennedy, Jr., who reached his first birthday and took over authority.

The President may still think he is top man, but he knows better. He now faces grave question: can he maintain anything like the power enjoyed up to now.

In our book Messrs. Rusk, McNamara and Goldberg will suffer from lost influence.

When the President goes into huddles with world leaders on world problems he will be really wondering what the situation is in the nursery.

These are problems which President is now facing:

1. Should Junior's pounding on high chair with spoon or plate be met by force or negotiation?

2. In the realization that talks with Junior will not be of any use at this time, what other measures of control should be employed?

3. Is it time for a firm stand against baby's threat to toss cereal bowl or milk bottle across room or should the problem be put up to a committee for study?

4. In the matter of Christmas gifts for Junior should there be immediate decisions regarding what toys constitute a threat to peace?

5. Must conferences be held to determine at what point photographers, determined to get more pictures of Junior, constitute aggressive group.

6. In walking the baby should President at some point favor disengagement with him or stick to policy of strength and determination?

7. What's to be done when Junior demands an end of concentrated baby foods?

These are serious problems. West Berlin, Laos, Cuba and Moscow my eye!

According to one recent survey of foreign sports car drivers in the U.S. about 43 per cent bought their high-powered little cars "because they are fun to drive," about 21 per cent liked the appearance and styling, while 20 per cent claimed economy of operation as their major consideration.

Not-So-Basic Training

U.S. Reds Want A Legal Spectacular

By Victor Riesel

What the American Communist leaders obviously seek is a spectacular show trial in a United States Federal Court. They would like to turn it into a global stage on which to play Khrushchevite martyrs defending the civil liberties of every last one of us enchained sufferers. There is a hint of this in a question a Russian correspondent asked Bob Kennedy at a press conference the other day.

Victor Riesel

"I don't," said a Radio Moscow reporter, "want to argue with you, Mr. Kennedy, but don't you think that outlawing the Communist party will hurt United States prestige in Italy, France and England, for example, where they don't seem to mind such an opposition party?"

"I don't," retorted the attorney general, "want to argue with you, but the Soviet Union should be the last country to want to argue about what to do with an opposition party."

OBVIOUSLY the man from Moscow reflected the Soviet line when he used the word "outlaw." There is no such intention. The law, upheld by the Supreme Court, merely requires the party to register as a foreign agent. Of course, it is that.

If it did register it could operate as freely as the Prohibitionists, the Republicans or Democrats. But it won't register as a "communist action" group, for basically it wants to get its people into the courts covered by masses of correspondents.

If it did not want its leaders arrested, it would have sent them underground. They could have put a subterranean network of cells together as easily as a statue of Stalin falls off a pedestal these days.

The American Communist party had a most effective secret network operating until the mid-50s. Names and physical appearances of some of their leaders were changed. They moved quietly by night from secret apartments to secret homes.

They had a courier and short-wave communication system. They hid in such isolated hamlets as Twain Harte in the California Sierras. They slipped in and out of the country.

THEN KHRUSHCHEV ordered them into the sunlight. But there is no doubt that they still could slip away. Within the last few weeks, for example, Communist officials proved how smoothly their underground railroad can work when their superiors blow the whistle.

There is in this city something called the July 26th Movement. It is a Castro outfit. It wanted to operate. So it registered as a foreign agent—just as the law would have the Communist party do.

Then the FBI moved in to make a perfectly legal check of the movement's documents to see if these matched the registration details. The FBI attempted to make a simultaneous check in New York and eight other cities in which there are "July 26" branches. This was on Oct. 26.

-:-

THE MOVEMENT'S leaders however hid the papers. On Oct. 27, one of the July 26 chiefs, Jose Sanchez, its national coordinator, substituted documents of virtually no importance for the vital records. He was then instructed by the federals to turn the real papers over to a grand jury sitting in Washington on Oct. 30.

However on that day, Sanchez and Efrian Trujillo, treasurer, also under subpoena, slipped out of the country through Canada. Apparently they are now in Havana.

This check on Cuba's foreign agents is virtually the same type of audit the registration act permits the Justice Department to make of Communist party records—if the CP registers. This would be a simple check of the source of funds and fidelity of the financial records.

Obviously, the party's leaders could go the same route taken by Sanchez and Trujillo. But the party leaders are staying although they may spend the rest of their lives in jail.

These Communist party leaders are not alone. The Justice Department has ordered the officials of such organizations as the National Council of American Soviet Friendship and the Committee for Protection of Foreign Born to report to the Federal Court of Appeals shortly.

-:-

APPARENTLY scores of those who have been Sovieteering will be involved. And as their numbers grow, they hope to attract the support of non-Communists, lawyers, civil libertarians and others who will not want to see what might appear to be an American replica of the Soviet-type show trial.

Out of all this will come heated and hectic debates which the Communists will attempt to exploit to make themselves the martyrs.

It will take a steady hand and lots of strong nerves to steer these cases through the narrows of this coming debate. But even if it takes another decade the time has come to prove that Communists are the hangmen of decency and liberty.

Unanswered Questions

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The Kennedy administration's use of naval units off the Dominican Republic's coast helped discourage the Trujillo family from re-establishing a dictatorship. But it raised some unanswered questions.

It was a form of intervention in the internal affairs of another country, even though the purpose could be interpreted as good. But was this an isolated case? Or is there a new policy to intervene in Latin America when this country chooses?

Those questions, of concern to Latin Americans, ride side by side with one of concern to this country: Will the United States sit idly by if communism attempts to take over anywhere in Latin America?

Under the Monroe Doctrine of 123 years ago, the United States told Europe not to interfere in the Western Hemisphere. In time, this country did a lot of intervening and interfering in Latin America. The result: criticism and ill will.

President Franklin Roosevelt's administration sought to reverse this with its "Good Neighbor" policy. This country, with 20 other American republics, set up the Organization of American States which, in its 1948 charter, agreed: no state had the right to intervene in another's affairs.

Non-intervention, however, was a bit of a myth. When this country gave help economic or military, to its Latin neighbors, it meant some interference, direct or indirect. For instance, when it helped a dictator to stay in power.

But the dictatorship of Fidel Castro in Cuba became a pain when he defied the United States and tried to encourage revolutions in Latin America. The OAS agreement went out the window. The United States intervened.

It did so in a way that made this country look ludicrous. It helped a band of anti-Castro rebels invade Cuba but didn't back them up with American military force. Castro crushed them. This country got all the blame and no benefit.

On May 30 Gen. Rafael Trujillo Molina, whose family had kept the Dominican Republic under his dictatorship 30 years, was assassinated. Left in charge was his handpicked president, Joaquin Balaguer, who apparently is trying to set up a democratic society but who is regarded by some Dominicans as a Trujillo stooge.

In mid-November rumor spread that Trujillo's brothers, Hector and Jose, were going to set up a dictatorship again. On Nov. 18 Secretary of State Dean Rusk made an extraordinary statement.

He said the United States would not sit idly by and watch the Trujillo family reassert dictatorial control. The next day, to back up Balaguer, an American naval force appeared off the Dominican coast but outside its territorial waters.

What isn't clear is whether it is now American policy to intervene in any country threatened by dictatorship of left or right, as Castro suggested, or by any other internal situation which this country disapproves.

'Resegregation'

By David Lawrence

Whites Move Out Of Integrated Areas

People who move to the suburbs from the cities or from one neighborhood to another just to escape integration of the schools may find they are violating the law of the land, for they could be helping to bring about a defeat of the Supreme Court's mandate of 1954 which said that Negro children can't get as good an education as they are entitled to get unless they are in classrooms with white children.

David Lawrence

This may sound far-fetched to some people but that is what many lawyers said about the Supreme Court opinion rendered seven years ago. Even some of the lawyers who agreed with the court's conclusion then said it was "the right decision but for the wrong reasons."

Still, those reasons are fundamental today in what is perhaps speciously but nevertheless repeatedly called "the law of the land." For "resegregation" has, in effect, begun. Some interesting facts have been recorded recently by the Southern Education Reporting Service, an objective agency that presents the news of what is happening in the schools.

HERE ARE SOME of the developments:

1. Several cities which had all-white schools now have all-Negro schools, while the suburbs have all-white schools.

2. Miami, Fla., has an elementary school which was one of the first to be integrated in 1959. It was then all-white. Within one year, it changed to preponderantly white, then heavily Negro, and in the second year the last white student left the school. The trend is the same in other schools in Miami.

3. Washington, D. C., now has 80 per cent Negroes in its public schools—a percentage that has gone steadily upward in the last few years.

4. Baltimore and St. Louis are experiencing the same trend from desegregation toward "resegregation."

5. Dr. Houston R. Jackson, a Negro, who is assistant superintendent of schools in Baltimore, says the city has more segregated Negro schools now than it had prior to 1954. He says that "when the Negroes in a school reach 10 per cent, that's when the white teachers ask for transfers."

6. In St. Louis, William A. Kettmeyer, deputy superintendent of instruction, says that the city now has more actual segregation than it had shortly after the schools were integrated in September, 1955.

But the letter as well as the spirit of the Supreme Court decision of 1954 says that this is not in keeping with "the law of the land" as then proclaimed. The high court spoke as follows:

"We come then to the question presented: Does segregation of children in public schools solely on the basis of race, even though the physical facilities and other 'tangible' factors may be equal, deprive the children of the minority group of equal educational opportunities? We believe it does."

THE SUPREME COURT went on to stress "ability to study, to engage in discussions and exchange views with other students" and declared:

"Such considerations apply with added force to children in grade and high schools. To separate them from others of similar age and qualifications solely because of their race generates a feeling of inferiority as to their status in the community that may affect their hearts and minds in a way unlikely ever to be undone."

The Supreme Court evidently felt that human nature wasn't the same back in 1896 and that "psychology" can today be made the basis of a ruling that reverses what the court said 65 years ago.

It ruled then that, if separate facilities were equal, they were constitutional. Giving, therefore, an unprecedented reason for reversing the previous decision, the court in 1954 said:

"Whatever may have been the extent of phychological knowledge at the time of Plessy V. Ferguson (1896 case), this finding is amply supported by modern authority. Any language in Plessy V. Ferguson contrary to this finding is rejected."

So, when legal precedents are shunted aside and theories of what constitutes good psychology and social practice are cited as a basis for wiping out rights granted to the states under the Tenth Amendment to the Constitution, anything can happen.

ALREADY in New York City public buses are used to transport Negroes across district lines from a school in a predominantly Negro neighborhood to a school in a white neighborhood.

In a suburb of New York City, Federal District Judge Irving R. Kaufman has ruled against arbitrary rearrangement of school districts designed to avoid integration. New York City school officials have said that "no child should be deprived of the right to attend a mixed school" even if he lives in an all-white or all-Negro neighborhood.

Yet the Constitution doesn't mention education as within the federal government's jurisdiction at all, and says explicitly in the Tenth Amendment that all rights not specifically delegated to the federal government by the Constitution "are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people."

The Constitution also provides that it can be amended only by a vote of two-thirds of Congress and by action of the states in ratifying amendments submitted to them by Congress.

The constitutional questions on school desegregation covered in the 1954 ruling by the Supreme Court have never been submitted to a vote of the people.

No Love Lost

By Truman Twill

I have no more idea than a rabbit how I would keep Uncle Sam's foot in the door of the shabby outposts of nationalism here, there and everywhere.

But I have an idea as big as an elephant about what I wouldn't do. I wouldn't piddle away one more dime on the theory that the way to make people love you is to move in with them and start using the same toothbrush.

This is the great national nonsense of togetherness.

It springs from a feather-headed credo that to know us is to love us, when the fact is that to know us is to hate our insides.

There is a close relationship between it and a never proved article of faith that the way to settle problems is to sit around a round table and have a friendly discussion; or to have a summit conference; or to bury the hatchet; or maybe to appoint a committee.

Perhaps there are places where all these ideas can be applied successfully.

But the ideas are getting nowhere in international relations. It doesn't take a genius to figure out why.

Human beings don't like to be patronized. They resent being bought. They hate to be moved in on. And, because they're human beings, they never give a sucker a suck.

Whether they're in China, Vietnam, Yugoslavia, or Ghana, they react to a fat cat by looking up recipes for turning it into a tasty dish. They get arrogant and capricious. They keep raising the price. They make the most of what they have before their luck runs out.

They have no respect for people who hold them in such contempt they insult their pride.

That's where the United States made a fateful mistake. It insulted the pride of so many people that they lost their respect.

There is only one way this country can redeem itself, and it can't start too soon. It can send out word that from now on people who need help shouldn't call Washington; Washington will call them.

Then Washington should quit calling them.

It should ignore their threats to run to Moscow. Let 'em run. Moscow has nothing they want. It is useful only as a bargaining threat, not as a source of help.

One more thing.

When the United States sees a chance to strike a blow for freedom, it should leave no room for doubt about its intentions. It never should make the impression it is casting bread upon the waters and hoping to get back buttered toast in return.

It should specify what it's going to get back, or else. And once it had proved it means to do just that and no more there will be no more misgivings about foreign aid. People don't love you when you buy them. They don't love you on any other terms.

But if they respect you, there's a fighting chance of getting somewhere.

Transition In Mental Health

Whatever the current standings of the principals in the fight over financing Ohio's mental health efforts, it is a good idea for Ohioans to remind themselves that more is involved than a "crash" program to see how much money can be spent.

Long-range policies in public programs are hard to sell and harder to maintain. But the wrangle between Gov. DiSalle and the Republican leaders of the General Assembly concerns one phase of a long-range policy.

It was initiated by a GOP-controlled legislature in the mid-1950s when Frank J. Lausche was governor. The plan was to build more buildings and hire more people to shift the emphasis from custodial care in long-term mental institutions to rehabilitative treatment over shorter periods of time.

Although the immediate cost of intensive treatment would be higher than custodial care, the new concept was expected to be cheaper in money and more rewarding in human lives than the old one—over the long term.

OHIO VOTERS put the plan into operation with the approval of a $150 million bond issue, part of which went to finance buildings. The Legislature, still in Republican hands, expanded appropriations to finance the new personnel program. The whole campaign continued during the administration of Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill.

These facts have been cited by both sides in the current battle over money. Gov. DiSalle says the investment in new buildings will not pay off unless more money is appropriated for skilled personnel. Republican legislators say there is no point in appropriating money for personnel that is not immediately available.

Perhaps the basic trouble is that everybody has forgotten the program is a long-range one. The transition from the old concept to the new one still is in progress.

It obviously has not advanced to the point where significant gains have been made in cutting down on custodial care, although achievements have been made. And significant gains cannot be realized unless the upgrading of quick, effective treatment continues.

COST OF financing both kinds of care is high. It would be unwise to scuttle the new concept by deciding now we can't afford it, but it also would be unwise to allow the costs to soar beyond necessity.

Politically, both Gov. DiSalle and his Republican adversaries have points in their favor in the budget argument.

They do a disservice to all Ohioans as well as to each other when they made it appear that one group is pulling harder than the other in the effort to bring to reality a mental health concept as valid now as it was conceived to be half a dozen years ago.

Everybody ought to be working together on mental health.

When It's Time To Be Counted

Tempers are going to be frayed over a dispute shaping up in Cleveland.

Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co., a tax-paying utility operated for profit, is willing and ready to supply current for Cleveland's grandiose Erieview project, a bold venture in downtown rehabilitation.

But the city's municipal light plant, darling of the public ownership crowd that has burrowed into local government, will be expanded by 25 per cent to furnish current for Erieview, if Bronis J. Klementowicz has his way. Klementowicz is city utilities director.

Never was the issue between creeping socialism and progressive capitalism joined more precisely.

Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. is in business to make money. Its prospects of making money are geared to its ability to provide service efficiently. It has been doing a good job. It has provided service; it has made money.

Cleveland's municipal light plant is not in business to make money. Its prospects of continuing in operation have nothing to do with money. They are geared to the plant's nuisance value in a field of enterprise that otherwise would be served entirely by private enterprise.

WHETHER the Cleveland municipal plant gives good service has no bearing on its survival. It exists to remind private enterprise that public ownership is an enduring threat to the existence of private enterprise.

What possible reason could there be for a publicly owned plant to be expanded to serve the electric power needs of a project to rehabilitate downtown Cleveland?

The very essence of the project is to give private enterprise a chance to show what it can do with energy and imagination.

Yet, no sooner does the project take form than the socialists jump on its back. Nor is this an isolated case.

The same people with the same thoughts have dedicated their best efforts to ruining the railroads, obviously in the hope of taking them over as a political grab-bag if all their profits can be taken away.

The same people with the same thoughts have resisted all efforts to revise the punitive tax laws of the United States to give private enterprise a leg up instead of a slap down.

The same people with the same thoughts have crowded into one of the most fascinating opportunities for private enterprise — the use of earth satellites to speed up trans-ocean communications. They are mumbling about turning this historic project into another bureaucratic bungle.

THOUGH MISUSE of the power to tax and regulate they have twined their fingers around the throat of private enterprise wherever they could hurt it.

They scorn the billions of dollars in taxes paid annually by the profit system, because they have their eye on the main income. If they could add that to their pork barrels they could make socialism the best-paying enterprise in the United States.

They do not believe in private enterprise. They do not believe in profit.

They believe in political control of everything. In Cleveland, where they already run public transportatiom, it is not surprising they should think the Erieview project's electricity should belong to them, too.

The fight will fray tempers in Cleveland. It will fray tempers from coast to coast — tempers already rubbed raw by evidence that the private enterprise system in the United States is under systematic attack by people who don't believe in it.

When it's time to be counted they always crawl out of the woodwork — to be counted on the side of socialism.

Question of who is boss in Washington is settled. He is John Fitzgerald Kennedy, Jr., who reached his first birthday and took over authority.

The President may still think he is top man, but he knows better. He now faces grave question: can he maintain anything like the power enjoyed up to now.

In our book Messrs. Rusk, McNamara and Goldberg will suffer from lost influence.

When the President goes into huddles with world leaders on world problems he will be really wondering what the situation is in the nursery.

These are problems which President is now facing:

1. Should Junior's pounding on high chair with spoon or plate be met by force or negotiation?

2. In the realization that talks with Junior will not be of any use at this time, what other measures of control should be employed?

3. Is it time for a firm stand against baby's threat to toss cereal bowl or milk bottle across room or should the problem be put up to a committee for study?

4. In the matter of Christmas gifts for Junior should there be immediate decisions regarding what toys constitute a threat to peace?

5. Must conferences be held to determine at what point photographers, determined to get more pictures of Junior, constitute aggressive group.

6. In walking the baby should President at some point favor disengagement with him or stick to policy of strength and determination?

7. What's to be done when Junior demands an end of concentrated baby foods?

These are serious problems. West Berlin, Laos, Cuba and Moscow my eye!

Not-So-Basic Training

U.S. Reds Want A Legal Spectacular

By Victor Riesel

What the American Communist leaders obviously seek is a spectacular show trial in a United States Federal Court. They would like to turn it into a global stage on which to play Khrushchevite martyrs defending the civil liberties of every last one of us enchained sufferers. There is a hint of this in a question a Russian correspondent asked Bob Kennedy at a press conference the other day.

Victor Riesel

"I don't," said a Radio Moscow reporter, "want to argue with you, Mr. Kennedy, but don't you think that outlawing the Communist party will hurt United States prestige in Italy, France and England, for example, where they don't seem to mind such an opposition party?"

"I don't," retorted the attorney general, "want to argue with you, but the Soviet Union should be the last country to want to argue about what to do with an opposition party."

-:-

OBVIOUSLY the man from Moscow reflected the Soviet line when he used the word "outlaw." There is no such intention. The law, upheld by the Supreme Court, merely requires the party to register as a foreign agent. Of course, it is that.

If it did register it could operate as freely as the Prohibitionists, the Republicans or Democrats. But it won't register as a "communist action" group, for basically it wants to get its people into the courts covered by masses of correspondents.

If it did not want its leaders arrested, it would have sent them underground. They could have put a subterranean network of cells together as easily as a statue of Stalin falls off a pedestal these days.

The American Communist party had a most effective secret network operating until the mid-50s. Names and physical appearances of some of their leaders were changed. They moved quietly by night from secret apartments to secret homes.

They had a courier and short-wave communication system. They hid in such isolated hamlets as Twain Harte in the California Sierras. They slipped in and out of the country.

-:-

THEN KHRUSHCHEV ordered them into the sunlight. But there is no doubt that they still could slip away. Within the last few weeks, for example, Communist officials proved how smoothly their underground railroad can work when their superiors blow the whistle.

There is in this city something called the July 26th Movement. It is a Castro outfit. It wanted to operate. So it registered as a foreign agent—just as the law would have the Communist party do.

Then the FBI moved in to make a perfectly legal check of the movement's documents to see if these matched the registration details. The FBI attempted to make a simultaneous check in New York and eight other cities in which there are "July 26" branches. This was on Oct. 26.

-:-

THE MOVEMENT'S leaders however hid the papers. On Oct. 27, one of the July 26 chiefs, Jose Sanchez, its national coordinator, substituted documents of virtually no importance for the vital records. He was then instructed by the federals to turn the real papers over to a grand jury sitting in Washington on Oct. 30.

However on that day, Sanchez and Efrian Trujillo, treasurer, also under subpoena, slipped out of the country through Canada. Apparently they are now in Havana.

This check on Cuba's foreign agents is virtually the same type of audit the registration act permits the Justice Department to make of Communist party records—if the CP registers. This would be a simple check of the source of funds and fidelity of the financial records.

Obviously, the party's leaders could go the same route taken by Sanchez and Trujillo. But the party leaders are staying although they may spend the rest of their lives in jail.

These Communist party leaders are not alone. The Justice Department has ordered the officials of such organizations as the National Council of American Soviet Friendship and the Committee for Protection of Foreign Born to report to the Federal Court of Appeals shortly.

-:-

APPARENTLY scores of those who have been Sovieteering will be involved. And as their numbers grow, they hope to attract the support of non-Communists, lawyers, civil libertarians and others who will not want to see what might appear to be an American replica of the Soviet-type show trial.

Out of all this will come heated and hectic debates which the Communists will attempt to exploit to make themselves the martyrs.

It will take a steady hand and lots of strong nerves to steer these cases through the narrows of this coming debate. But even if it takes another decade the time has come to prove that Communists are the hangmen of decency and liberty.

There is a close relationship between it and a never proved article of faith that the way to settle problems is to sit around a round table and have a friendly discussion; or to have a summit conference; or to bury the hatchet; or maybe to appoint a committee.

Perhaps there are places where all these ideas can be applied successfully.

But the ideas are getting nowhere in international relations. It doesn't take a genius to figure out why.

Human beings don't like to be patronized. They resent being bought. They hate to be moved in on. And, because they're human beings, they never give a sucker a suck.

Whether they're in China, Vietnam, Yugoslavia, or Ghana, they react to a fat cat by looking up recipes for turning it into a tasty dish. They get arrogant and capricious. They keep raising the price. They make the most of what they have before their luck runs out.

They have no respect for people who hold them in such contempt they insult their pride.

That's where the United States made a fateful mistake. It insulted the pride of so many people that they lost their respect.

There is only one way this country can redeem itself, and it can't start too soon. It can send out word that from now on people who need help shouldn't call Washington; Washington will call them.

Then Washington should quit calling them.

It should ignore their threats to run to Moscow. Let 'em run. Moscow has nothing they want. It is useful only as a bargaining threat, not as a source of help.

One more thing.

When the United States sees a chance to strike a blow for freedom, it should leave no room for doubt about its intentions. It never should make the impression it is casting bread upon the waters and hoping to get back buttered toast in return.

It should specify what it's going to get back, or else. And once it had proved it means to do just that and no more there will be no more misgivings about foreign aid. People don't love you when you buy them. They don't love you on any other terms.

But if they respect you, there's a fighting chance of getting somewhere.

Owen Announces Change

2 Crosswalks Eliminated For Westgate's Students

Safety - Service Director Robert Owen announced a change, effective today, in which only a single crosswalk will be used by children crossing the four-lane stretch of W. 8th St. to get to Westgate School.

The change means elimination of two other crossings formerly used by Westgate students — at the foot of Jefferson at W. 8th and at former Chestnut St., Owen said.

The only crossing that will remain in use is directly in front of the school — the point supervised by an adult civilian guard, Owen emphasized.

The change was made possible after freeway contractors completed installation of temporary slag sidewalks on the north side of W. 8th. This means that youngsters will have an adequate walkway entirely along the north side of the street — either on permanent concrete paving or on the temporary slag walks, Owen said.

There will be little effect on youngsters who walk to Westgate from the south, as they will continue to use an elevated concrete ramp that extends from the end of W. 7th St. at Jefferson St., Owen explained.

A patrolman and a "Meter Maid" will remain on duty the balance of the week at the crossings at Jefferson St. and former Chestnut St., but they will be there to explain to youngsters that the walks no longer are in use and that they must use the crossing at Westgate, Owen said.

School authorities are co-operating by explaining the new system to youngsters, the director added.

For weeks, a patrolman has been stationed at the Jefferson St. crossing and a "Meter Maid" has been on duty at former Chestnut St during rush hours, aiding the youngsters in crossing the busy thoroughfare.

In connection with the change, a traffic signal will be removed from W. 8th at Chestnut St. It operated as an amber blinker except during times when children were en route to and from school. Then the "Meter Maid" used a manual control to operate it as a conventional traffic light.

School patrol boys will be on duty to assist youngsters in crossing the complicated series of lanes where the foot of Lisbon St. intersects W. 8th, Owen said. He emphasized that all youngsters approaching Westgate from the north will use only one crossing point — the one directly in front of the school.

Owen urged all motorists to drive "with extreme caution" in the vicinity of the school to avoid injury to children.

3-Way Crash Damage High

Three cars received considerable damage in a collision on Route 267 at 6th Ave., LaCroft, Monday night at 10:05, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Officers said a convertible driven south by Darrel A. Baumgarner, 19, of Bridge St., was turning west, and was struck from behind by another southbound vehicle operated by Lewis Gene VanDyne, 17, of LaCroft.

The impact knocked Baumgarner's 1949 convertible into a 1955 sedan driven by Harold W. Boyd, 17, of 724 Price St., who, also headed south, was turning.

VanDyne's 1957 station wagon and the other cars received considerable damage, and VanDyne was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

No one was injured, officers said, including Shirley Holland of Ravine St., passenger in Baumgarner's car, and Frank Boyd, of Pennsylvania Ave. Ext. and Eugene Micheals of Ohio Ave., passengers with Boyd.

Ford Readies Defense On U.S. Charge

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. today prepared to defend in court its $28 million purchase of a spark plug and battery business against a federal antitrust charge.

The Justice Department asked U.S. District Court here Monday to void the deal made last April by Ford and the Electric Autolite Co.

Both Ford and Autolite quickly denied any violation.

Assets purchased by Ford included the Autolite trade name; a spark plug plant at Fostoria, Ohio; a battery plant at Owosso, Mich., and much of the Autolite sales organization.

2 Youths Held In Gang Fight

A near gang fight at Lisbon — climaxing a hurtling race by two cars full of district youths—was halted early today by an Ohio Highway Patrolman and a Lisbon officer with the arrest of two of the participants.

James A. Slanaker, 21, of Glenmoor and James Logan, 516 Broadway, Wellsville, were being held today at Lisbon on disorderly conduct charges as a result of the disturbance near a diner on W. Lincoln Way about 2 a. m.

Fourteen young men from Wellsville and Salineville areas were involved in the rumble which was halted shortly after Slanaker and Logan struck some others, the patrol reported.

The friction between the seven in one car and seven in the other hit a hazardous high when the cars, driven by Slanaker and Allan C. Cunningham, 21, of 614 Water St., Salineville, streaked along Route 164 toward Lisbon at speeds ranging past 90 miles an hour, the patrol said.

Those in the cars told officers Slanaker's car hit 95 miles an hour while Cunningham's hit between 65 and 70.

The car zig-zagged along the road as each tried to prevent the other from passing, officers said. When the drivers got into Lisbon, they stopped near Crosser's Diner on W. Lincoln Way. When Highway Patrolman E. D. Wain and Lisbon Patrolman, Leon Zahrndt, who were talking nearby, saw the cars unload, they suspected trouble and headed for the site.

The patrol is continuing an investigation on possible traffic charges. They will be given hearings before Mayor Dean Stockman of Lisbon.

Mrs. Jack Peck, welfare and emergency officer, substituted for Miss Leona Burroughs, secretary, and announced that a meeting date will be set to organize women volunteers.

2,000 Attend First Meet In Draft DiSalle Effort

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two thousand people showed up at a meeting here Monday night—only about 100 to 150 were expected—in the start of a grass roots campaign to get Gov. Michael V. DiSalle to run for re-election.

The Democratic governor has declared himself out of the running for renomination to a second term. He said he could best promote his own state programs "unburdened by candidacy."

Whether the draft-DiSalle spark kindled a flame in the governor's heart, only he knows.

The organization meeting of the drafting group was sponsored by the Bipartisan Committee for Good State Government. Robert W. Reider, Port Clinton publisher, and Dale Stump, Columbus attorney, were elected co-chairmen of the group. Stump is a Republican.

Cleveland Councilman Leo Jackson was named vice chairman, and State Rep. Bernice McKenzie, D-Star, secretary.

Reider was asked after the meeting if he planned to continue the fight to draft DiSalle. The publisher replied, "You're darn right we're going ahead. Do you know that those people (at the meeting) are going across the street right now to serenade the governor in his office?"

The mob-like session was so jammed that newsmen who arrived 30 minutes before starting time could get no closer than 200 feet from the speaker's platform. The meeting was held in a ballroom at a Columbus hotel.

Meanwhile, Democratic party state headquarters announced that Democratic committees in 25 Ohio counties have joined the draft-DiSalle move.

The board agreed to seek new bids on obtaining two new school buses, after the bids submitted by firms earlier this month did not meet the financial arrangements expected by the board.

2 City Drivers Figure In Vanport Accidents

No one was hurt in two minor accidents in Vanport this morning in which two East Liverpool motorists were involved.

A collision about 7 a. m. today on Route 68 at the lower end of Vanport involved eastbound cars driven by Norman Mays of East Liverpool and Edward Davis of Industry, officers reported.

The two cars collided in an attempt to avoid an unidentified motorist who skidded across the highway. There was $500 damage to both cars, police said.

A few minutes later and a short distance away, a car driven by Jack Chamberlain of East Liverpool R. D. 2 skidded on an icy pavement into the path of a tank truck operated by John J. Frank of Darlington. Both vehicles hit guard rails with total damages estimated at $250.

Officer Quells Blaze Inside Official's Auto

State Examiner Robert Lippincott arrived hurriedly — and early — when he reported for work at City Hall this morning.

The back seat of his auto was afire.

Patrolman Robert Duffy, desk officer at headquarters, hurried outside with a bucket of water and doused the fire after Lippincott pulled the seat onto the floor of the auto. Police said the fire may have been started by a dropped cigarette.

Lippincott, an employe of the Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, is making a periodic examination of the city's books.

Councilmen At Lisbon To Get Tax Data

LISBON — Councilman Fred Steele reported at Council meeting Monday night his committee is receiving information from various communities relative to possible adoption of an income tax to supplement village revenues. A report will be made later.

Council recently ordered a 3-mill levy resubmitted next May. The measure, designed to produce $18,000 annually, has been rejected three times, the last on Nov. 7.

The shift of State Highway Patrol cases to county courts has deprived the village of revenue formerly received from fines in local mayor's court.

In other business, Council gave first reading to an ordinance allowing the Board of Public Affairs to place 75 per cent of surplus funds in a reserve for expenses and replacement of capital improvements.

Paul Kuhns, member of the board, made the request, explaining that special improvements will be necessary in the next few years and by putting this surplus away, the board will be in better shape when the time comes for the projects.

Council authorized purchase of two snow tires for the firemen's ambulance at an estimated cost of $60. Frank Morlan of the fire department made the request.

Council approved payment of $567 as the village share of the costs of a storm sewer from Spruce St. to Sherman St. The board will pay the remainder.

Consideration of the request by the Lions Club, for the village to relinquish its rights to land now being used by the club near Willow Grove Park, was continued to await the attendance of several Council members, who are ill.

Councilman Raymond Dixon reported the stop light on the Public Square needs a green lense and Mayor Dean Stockman said one is an order.

Mayor Stockman said he plans to attend the regional planning meeting at Beaver Local School Wednesday and requested that council members accompany him.

Next meeting is Dec. 11 at 7:30 p. m.

DENVER (AP)—The cocktail hour, Dr. Clyde B. Stanfield said today, is here to stay.

But in spelling your day, it should be only a punctuation mark before dinner—an' nah uh woal shentence.

The Denver psychiatrist suggested limiting it to two to three cocktails after the day's work, "to put in a punctuation mark before dinner, to relax and unwind."

He frowned on martinis at lunch "to get through the day," and on drinking after dinner to lubricate conversation or induce sleep; in short, using alcohol as a drug.

As a gag, he displayed to the American Medical Association his invention, "the drinking man's filter."

This contraption would limit the drinker to one swallow each 15 minutes and, through a timer device, not operate until half an hour before dinner.

He and other speakers examined medical aspects of various American habits.

Looking at the coffee habit, D. E. Chester Ridgway of Cody, Wyo., said Americans drink so much of it—100 billion cups a year he said—that it's bound to produce some illness, in nervousness, irritability, isomnia, stomach upsets, speedier heart rate.

Looking at pets in the home, Dr. Francis T. Candlin, Denver veterinarian, said dogs and cats often reflect their owners' behavior, including anxieties. He suggested cooperation between physicians and veterinarians could give some insights into what ails humans, or their pets.

As for sex, no "sound scientific conclusions" can yet be drawn from various studies, said Dr. Bradford Murphey of Denver.

'Campus Bandit' Faces Pen For Violating Parole

CINCINNATI (AP) — "Campus bandit" Bernard Harris Aldrich, 37, who admits to pocketing $600 to $700 a week in college campus forays for several years, faces a return to Ohio Penitentiary as a parole violator.

Aldrich was first arrested here July 11, 1953, and confessed to 80 campus forays in a six-month period. He was sentenced to a total of seven years in the penitentiary.

Parole after five years, Aldrich returned to his "trade." Officials say he admits having practiced it at 42 schools in the last 24 years. He was arrested here again Nov. 14.

His technique was to enter dormitories and fraternity houses in the late forenoon hours and rifle desk drawers and dressers in empty rooms for cash and checks.

Authorities say Aldrich told them his campus forays produced about $600 to $700 a week for several years. He has admitted visiting at least 30 eastern and midwestern campuses since his parole.

In addition to facing a return to Ohio Penitentiary, Aldrich is wanted on bad check charges at Springfield, Indianapolis and Champaign, Ill.

Campuses Aldrich has admitted visiting include Ohio State University, the University of Cincinnati, Notre Dame, Indiana, Purdue, Illinois, Michigan, Michigan State and Wisconsin.

Cuyahoga Relief Authorities Eye Board's Meeting

CLEVELAND (AP)— Cuyahoga County relief authorities, facing a threat of cuts in state matching funds, will be keeping a close watch on Thursday's meeting of the state controlling board in Columbus.

County Welfare Director John J. Schaffer said he was notified in a letter Monday from the Ohio Department of Public Welfare that the controlling board rejected plans of the department to dip into future allotments to maintain present payment levels.

"This is one of the worst situations I have yet encountered," Schaffer said. The board will reconsider Thursday, and if it fails to approve the plan, Schaffer said, cuts will go into effect immediately.

Affected will be payments for aid to dependent children, aid to the blind, aid for disabled and poor relief.

Poor relief would be hardest hit in this county. Payments would drop from $28.87 per month per person to $15.10. Aid to dependent children would drop from $33.66 per case to $19.69, affecting some 25,000 cases, Schaffer said.

Other cuts that would go into effect: Aid to the blind from $84.22 to $69.06 a month; aid for the disabled from $85.19 to $73.26.

Councilmen At Lisbon To Get Tax Data

LISBON — Councilman Fred Steele reported at Council meeting Monday night his committee is receiving information from various communities relative to possible adoption of an income tax to supplement village revenues. A report will be made later.

Council recently ordered a 3-mill levy resubmitted next May. The measure, designed to produce $18,000 annually, has been rejected three times, the last on Nov. 7.

The shift of State Highway Patrol cases to county courts has deprived the village of revenue formerly received from fines in local mayor's court.

In other business, Council gave first reading to an ordinance allowing the Board of Public Affairs to place 75 per cent of surplus funds in a reserve for expenses and replacement of capital improvements.

Paul Kuhns, member of the board, made the request, explaining that special improvements will be necessary in the next few years and by putting this surplus away, the board will be in better shape when the time comes for the projects.

Council authorized purchase of two snow tires for the firemen's ambulance at an estimated cost of $60. Frank Morlan of the fire department made the request.

Council approved payment of $567 as the village share of the costs of a storm sewer from Spruce St. to Sherman St. The board will pay the remainder.

Consideration of the request by the Lions Club, for the village to relinquish its rights to land now being used by the club near Willow Grove Park, was continued to await the attendance of several Council members, who are ill.

Councilman Raymond Dixon reported the stop light on the Public Square needs a green lense and Mayor Dean Stockman said one is an order.

Mayor Stockman said he plans to attend the regional planning meeting at Beaver Local School Wednesday and requested that council members accompany him.

Next meeting is Dec. 11 at 7:30 p. m.

Punctuation Mark Before Dinner

Limit Drinks To 2 Or 3 After Work, Expert Says

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

DENVER (AP)—The cocktail hour, Dr. Clyde B. Stanfield said today, is here to stay.

But in spelling your day, it should be only a punctuation mark before dinner—an' nah uh woal shentence.

The Denver psychiatrist suggested limiting it to two to three cocktails after the day's work, "to put in a punctuation mark before dinner, to relax and unwind."

He frowned on martinis at lunch "to get through the day," and on drinking after dinner to lubricate conversation or induce sleep; in short, using alcohol as a drug.

As a gag, he displayed to the American Medical Association his invention, "the drinking man's filter."

This contraption would limit the drinker to one swallow each 15 minutes and, through a timer device, not operate until half an hour before dinner.

He and other speakers examined medical aspects of various American habits.

Looking at the coffee habit, D. E. Chester Ridgway of Cody, Wyo., said Americans drink so much of it—100 billion cups a year he said—that it's bound to produce some illness, in nervousness, irritability, isomnia, stomach upsets, speedier heart rate.

Looking at pets in the home, Dr. Francis T. Candlin, Denver veterinarian, said dogs and cats often reflect their owners' behavior, including anxieties. He suggested cooperation between physicians and veterinarians could give some insights into what ails humans, or their pets.

As for sex, no "sound scientific conclusions" can yet be drawn from various studies, said Dr. Bradford Murphey of Denver.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: It is apparent that a vast number of intelligent and well-bred people don't know what to say when they telephone a friend. Often the first words I hear are, "What are you doing?"

Well, maybe I don't wish to tell a casual acquaintance 'what I'm doing."

It is only good manners for the caller to identify himself immediately — even though he may be calling a close friend or relative. It's foolish to assume that a voice will be recognized at once—by one and all.

I received one of those "what are you doing" calls last night and I asked, "Who is this?" My husband said I sounded like a shrew and he wouldn't blame the friend if she never phoned again. Comment, please. — UP IN ARMS.

-:-

Dear Up: The person telephoned is the one whose privacy is invaded. He is entitled to know immediately who is calling. The first words he hears should be, "This is ——."

The caller who fails to identify himself at once should be asked to do so. If he refuses to give his name when asked and says something insipid like, "Can't you guess?" he deserves whatever he gets in the way of a reply.

Cozy Arrangement

Dear Ann: I am 22, a college junior and madly in love with a girl who is 16. Before you jump to a hasty conclusion let me tell you this girl is more a woman than most 22-year-olds I've dated. She is mature and very smart.

This summer I asked her to marry me at Christmas time. Her father almost threw me out of the house. My folks said I was nuts.

It's true that she has a year and a half of school left but I figure she can go to work until I get my degree and then get her diploma later.

We could manage swell financially and I wouldn't have to work part time as I do now. I could devote all my time to studies. Many married students on campus get along fine and so could we. Please help us. — D AND K.

-:-

Dear D and K: What a perfectly ginger-peachy plan! You want this 16-year-old girl to quit high school and marry you—and go to work so you can devote all your time to studies. And she can get her diploma later, can she?

If this "mature and bright" girl has an operating brain cell in her head she'll stay in high school where she belongs. And you, my friend, have a lot of growing up to do before you consider marriage.

The Big Fact

Dear Ann: I met this man at my place of work. He holds a fine position and has a charming personality.

I am a widow, 36. He said he was divorced. After six months I learned he is not divorced but separated from his wife. He never mentioned children but it turns out that he has three. I also discovered he is spending his weekends at home. He always told me he had to be with his mother on weekends because she is unwell.

He insists that I am ill-informed, that he is not married but he does admit to going home weekends to see his children.

How can I get the facts? Is there a place to check? I must have the truth. — TIED HANDS.

-:-

Dear Tied: You have the most important fact — your friend is a liar. And any man who could forget a detail like three children is probably hiding plenty more. Give him his walking papers so fast he'll catch pneumonia from the breeze.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Demonstration Slated On Yule Decorations

Christmas gifts will be exchanged.

Serves On Cruiser

LISBON — Machinist's Mate 3C David P. Van Newkirk, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. O. Van Newkirk of R. D. 3, is serving aboard the guided missile cruiser Topeka, which recently participated in Navy and Marine Corps training exercises off the coast of Southern California.

Library Lists Film Aids For Yule Meeting

Lively ideas to enrich Christmas programs are on tap in the motion picture films and film - strips available through the Carnegie Public Library, Miss Frances Jones, librarian, pointed out today.

Thirty visual subjects are available, including three 16 mm. sound films. Most of the materials are on film-strips with recorded backgrounds, Miss Jones said.

Two outstanding features for adults are "Bells at Christmas" and "Handel's Messiah." Both run 20 minutes. The "Bells" theme concerns customs of symbolism in observing Christmas around the world. The second includes 15 selections from Handel's great work. The music is performed by the Northwestern University Symphony Orchestra and Choral Union under the direction of Thor Johnson. The "Bells" program has a participation version which can be used effectively with children.

Emphasizing the theme that we need to keep Christmas Christian is a compassionate plea from a sermon by Peter Marshall. It has 43 pictures with a recorded backgruond. The title is "Let's Keep Christmas."

2 Cleveland Holdups Seen As Similar

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police say a holdup Monday of Alex Philip, manager of the Brown Derby restaurant, and a $10,000 holdup of the head of New York Bakeries Oct. 23 appear to be similar.

Some $10,000 to $14,000 in cash and checks was taken from Philip Monday in front of the Central National Bank branch at Southgate Shopping Center in suburban Maple Heights. He said he was on his way to deposit weekend receipts.

Philip said the money — from $5,000 to $8,000—and checks were in several small white envelopes. As he walked toward the bank from his car, Philip said, a man stopped him and ordered, "Give me the envelopes and keep quiet."

The man held his right hand in his coat pocket as though pointing a gun, Philip said.

After taking the envelopes, the holdup man hopped into a car driven by two other men. Philip noted the license numbers, and police got a report later that the car had been stolen from West Third Street.

In the Oct. 23 holdup, Alex G. Penn was approaching the rear door of a bank at a South Euclid shopping center when two men, one of them carrying a gun, accosted him. The holdup men on that occasion fled in a car driven by an accomplice.

Burglars Thwarted, Safe Empty Anyway

The answer: ELECTRICITY that preserves your food!

It's a fact. Official government figures show residential prices for electricity in Ohio are less than in 1935.* (Your monthly bills are bigger than they used to be because you're using 5½ times as much electricity now—but who would want to enjoy less electrical living?)

What has kept the price of electricity low in Ohio? Thanks to Ohio's historically favorable business climate, the electric companies have been able to raise the millions to make improvements. Through these improvements they have kept the price of electricity down. Your increased use of electricity has helped, too.

The result: Electricity has remained one of the biggest bargains in your budget. In fact, you pay less for electricity than the people in 32* other states.

*Based on price of residential electricity for 250 kilowatt hours from Federal Power Commission figures.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: It is apparent that a vast number of intelligent and well-bred people don't know what to say when they telephone a friend. Often the first words I hear are, "What are you doing?"

Well, maybe I don't wish to tell a casual acquaintance 'what I'm doing."

It is only good manners for the caller to identify himself immediately — even though he may be calling a close friend or relative. It's foolish to assume that a voice will be recognized at once—by one and all.

I received one of those "what are you doing" calls last night and I asked, "Who is this?" My husband said I sounded like a shrew and he wouldn't blame the friend if she never phoned again. Comment, please. — UP IN ARMS.

-:-

Dear Up: The person telephoned is the one whose privacy is invaded. He is entitled to know immediately who is calling. The first words he hears should be, "This is ——."

The caller who fails to identify himself at once should be asked to do so. If he refuses to give his name when asked and says something insipid like, "Can't you guess?" he deserves whatever he gets in the way of a reply.

Cozy Arrangement

Dear Ann: I am 22, a college junior and madly in love with a girl who is 16. Before you jump to a hasty conclusion let me tell you this girl is more a woman than most 22-year-olds I've dated. She is mature and very smart.

This summer I asked her to marry me at Christmas time. Her father almost threw me out of the house. My folks said I was nuts.

It's true that she has a year and a half of school left but I figure she can go to work until I get my degree and then get her diploma later.

We could manage swell financially and I wouldn't have to work part time as I do now. I could devote all my time to studies. Many married students on campus get along fine and so could we. Please help us. — D AND K.

-:-

Dear D and K: What a perfectly ginger-peachy plan! You want this 16-year-old girl to quit high school and marry you—and go to work so you can devote all your time to studies. And she can get her diploma later, can she?

If this "mature and bright" girl has an operating brain cell in her head she'll stay in high school where she belongs. And you, my friend, have a lot of growing up to do before you consider marriage.

The Big Fact

Dear Ann: I met this man at my place of work. He holds a fine position and has a charming personality.

I am a widow, 36, He said he was divorced. After six months I learned he is not divorced but separated from his wife. He never mentioned children but it turns out that he has three. I also discovered he is spending his weekends at home. He always told me he had to be with his mother on weekends because she is unwell.

He insists that I am ill-informed, that he is not married but he does admit to going home weekends to see his children.

How can I get the facts? Is there a place to check? I must have the truth. — TIED HANDS.

-:-

Dear Tied: You have the most important fact — your friend is a liar. And any man who could forget a detail like three children is probably hiding plenty more. Give him his walking papers so fast he'll catch pneumonia from the breeze.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Library Lists Film Aids For Yule Meeting

Lively ideas to enrich Christmas programs are on tap in the motion picture films and film - strips available through the Carnegie Public Library, Miss Frances Jones, librarian, pointed out today.

Thirty visual subjects are available, including three 16 mm. sound films. Most of the materials are on film-strips with recorded backgrounds, Miss Jones said.

Two outstanding features for adults are "Bells at Christmas" and "Handel's Messiah." Both run 20 minutes. The "Bells" theme concerns customs of symbolism in observing Christmas around the world. The second includes 15 selections from Handel's great work. The music is performed by the Northwestern University Symphony Orchestra and Choral Union under the direction of Thor Johnson. The "Bells" program has a participation version which can be used effectively with children.

Lively Fight Builds Up On Trade Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—A lively dialogue over foreign trade policy—should trade barriers be lowered or not?—is spreading into the far corners of Washington. It presages a bitter legislative fight next year when the present trade law expires.

Holding up the protectionist or high tariff end of the dialogue at the moment is Rep. John Dent, D-Pa. His House subcommittee is holding a week of hearings generally aimed at airing the views of segments of industry which want more protection against foreign competition as a matter of survival.

The administration is masterminding the other side, pushing for liberalization of trade as a means of increasing the economic strength of the West.

The administration is gathering powerful allies, including top leaders of the AFL-CIO. The International Association of Machinists is pounding the drums in a three-day world trade conference, with lowered trade barriers as the keynote.

Undersecretary of State George W. Ball loosed a recent administration trial balloon in a speech repudiating protectionism, and pledging efforts "to open the doors and windows of our economy to the competition we must face in world markets." The speech reportedly had the prior approval of President Kennedy.

Dent's investigation is not all one-sided. Scheduled for today is Meyer Bernstein of the United Steelworkers, who is expected to urge trade liberalization. Dent said he would schedule more rebuttal witnesses in January before his House subcommittee on the Impact of Imports and Exports on American Employment.

But most of the witnesses set for this week represent industries which are fighting to at least hold the line on tariff protection, if not gain higher walls against imports of low-wage foreign products.

Another element in the argument is the House subcommittee on Foreign Economic Policy headed by Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., which has been issuing reports generally supporting the administration's policy of freer world trade.

Police Hold Man, 71, In Hit-Skip Death

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Police held a 71-year-old retired grocer for questioning in the hit-skip death Monday of Julius Kovacs, 50, on Chester Street.

Kovacs was standing on the curb talking with friends when he was hit. The friends were able to furnish a description of the car and a partial license number.

Held was Nick DiIorio. Police said DiIorio was asleep when they went to his home an hour after the accident. He told them he had driven the car an hour earlier but denied being in an accident.

The right front fender and hood of DiIorio's car, which fitted the description of the accident car, were damaged, police said.

U.S. Splits, Votes To End Colonialism

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The United States split with its major Western allies Monday night and joined 96 other U.N. members in overwhelming endorsement of an Asian-African resolution creating a 17-member committee to make recommendations for speeding an end to colonialism.

There were no opposing votes. Britain, France, Spain and South Africa abstained, Honduras was absent and Portugal—a chief target of the resolution—was listed as not participating.

The General Assembly rejected a Soviet proposal to have the assembly declare 1962 "the year of the elimination of colonialism." The vote was 19 in favor, 46 opposed and 36 abstentions.

Thus for the second straight year the assembly refused to let the Soviet Union take the leadership away from the newly independent countries of Asia and Africa in their drive against colonialism.

Last year the United States abstained on an Asian-African resolution urging a speedy end to colonialism. Some members of the U.S. delegation made it plain they personally opposed the abstention—cast on orders of the Eisenhower administration then in office.

The new resolution, carrying last year's action a step forward, called on General Assembly President Mongi Slim to name the 17-nation committee. It will report back to the 1962 assembly with its suggestions and recommendations.

Rival Asian-African resolutions on another issue of colonialism—the Dutch-Indonesian dispute over control of Dutch-controlled West New Guinea—failed to get the two-thirds majorities necessary for assembly adoption.

A 13-nation resolution, sponsored chiefly by the former French colonies in Africa, received a 53-41 vote with nine abstentions. A six-nation resolution supported by India, Bolivia and the United Arab Republic among others received a 41-40 vote with 21 abstentions.

Both resolutions proposed the two countries negotiate their differences over the Pacific island territory that the Netherlands now holds and Indonesia claims.

Mrs. Gibbs said, before she pleaded guilty to first-degree manslaughter, that she shot her husband to protect the couple's 10 children, three of them by her marriage to Gibbs.

Sentencing Set For Friday In Kidnaping Case

CLEVELAND (AP) — Sentencing has been set for Friday for George Edward Bentley, 43, convicted by a U.S. District Court jury on charges of kidnaping two women in Avon Lake and forcing them to ride to Jackhorn, Ky.

Logan Mullins, 26, indicted as Bentley's partner in the July 2 incident, was acquitted by the same jury Monday. Irwin Barnett, Bentley's attorney, said he will appeal.

The case was the first tried in the Northern District of Ohio under the Lindbergh Act. The jury did not recommend the death penalty. Judge Charles J. McNamee will determine Bentley's prison term, limited under the law to life imprisonment.

The prosecution charged Bentley and Mullins kidnaped Mrs. Dorothy M. Stancil, 42, of suburban Lakewood and Mrs. Sandra Goslin Davison, 23, of Brownsville, Pa. It was charged Bentley first beat Mrs. Stancil on the head with a lug wrench.

Miss Patsy Jo Ramsey, Bentley's common-law wife, also went on the ride to Kentucky, the prosecution charged. She was not mentioned as a kidnap victim in the indictment, however.

Mullins testified Bentley had forced him to go on the ride. Both are natives of Kentucky. They had been living in Lorain.

State Suspends City Club Permit

The Department of Liquor Control has decreed a 14-day suspension for the Buckeye Club, 616 Dresden Ave., for its conviction in Municipal Court on Sept. 25 for Sunday sales.

The suspension will begin at noon Dec. 6 and end at noon Dec. 20.

Counsel for the state director dismissed a violation for Sunday sale and consumption of intoxicating liquor in and upon the permit premises and decided to proceed on the violation for conviction. The hearing was held Nov. 20 in Columbus.

The case was referred to the liquor department after city police raided the tavern following the complaint from a woman patron who had been asked to leave. The tavern has a D-4 permit.

The Kitty Kat Club on Route 7 near Steubenville has been given a 7-day suspension from noon Dec. 8 to noon Dec. 15 for selling intoxicating liquor to a minor on Oct. 13.

77 Officials Given Forms

The first 77 certificates of election were issued Monday by the County Election Board to men and women who were named to city and village posts Nov. 7 and who have complied with the "Corrupt Practices Act" by filing sworn statements of their campaign expenses.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board, said more of the certificates will be mailed today—principally to those named to offices in townships and school districts. He emphasized that state law forbids the board to issue the certificates unless the successful candidates have filed the required expense reports.

Obtaining a certificate of election is one of the steps for an official-elect to qualify to assume office. Persons elected with write-in votes also must pay the filing fee for the office before the certificate can be issued. Since most of the write-ins were named in small subdivisions, the $1 minimum filing fee applies in virtually all cases, O'Hanlon said.

Meanwhile, the board has started its annual year-end check on East Liverpool voter registration lists. It expects to complete the task before the end of December. The check is required annually in registration areas to remove the names of persons who have not voted at least once in the preceding two years.

Postcard notices will be mailed about Jan. 2 to those whose names are removed from the rolls. Under a recently - enacted law, they will be allowed to reinstate their names by returning a postcard form to the board, provided they act within 30 days. Until the law was amended, re-registration was possible only in person.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Keith Rutherford, 19, of Bridgeport, Ohio, and Elvin D. Atkins, 23, of Chicago, were given suspended sentences Monday after pleading guilty to taking loot worth $2,070 in two service station burglaries in Ross Twp. Nov. 7.

Dent's investigation is not all one-sided. Scheduled for today is Meyer Bernstein of the United Steelworkers, who is expected to urge trade liberalization. Dent said he would schedule more rebuttal witnesses in January before his House subcommittee on the Impact of Imports and Exports on American Employment.

But most of the witnesses set for this week represent industries which are fighting to at least hold the line on tariff protection, if not gain higher walls against imports of low-wage foreign products.

Another element in the argument is the House subcommittee on Foreign Economic Policy headed by Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., which has been issuing reports generally supporting the administration's policy of freer world trade.

Police Hold Man, 71, In Hit-Skip Death

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Police held a 71-year-old retired grocer for questioning in the hit-skip death Monday of Julius Kovacs, 50, on Chester Street.

Kovacs was standing on the curb talking with friends when he was hit. The friends were able to furnish a description of the car and a partial license number.

Held was Nick DiIorio. Police said DiIorio was asleep when they went to his home an hour after the accident. He told them he had driven the car an hour earlier but denied being in an accident.

The right front fender and hood of DiIorio's car, which fitted the description of the accident car, were damaged, police said.

U.S. Splits, Votes To End Colonialism

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The United States split with its major Western allies Monday night and joined 96 other U.N. members in overwhelming endorsement of an Asian-African resolution creating a 17-member committee to make recommendations for speeding an end to colonialism.

There were no opposing votes. Britain, France, Spain and South Africa abstained, Honduras was absent and Portugal—a chief target of the resolution—was listed as not participating.

The General Assembly rejected a Soviet proposal to have the assembly declare 1962 "the year of the elimination of colonialism." The vote was 19 in favor, 46 opposed and 36 abstentions.

Thus for the second straight year the assembly refused to let the Soviet Union take the leadership away from the newly independent countries of Asia and Africa in their drive against colonialism.

Last year the United States abstained on an Asian-African resolution urging a speedy end to colonialism. Some members of the U.S. delegation made it plain they personally opposed the abstention—cast on orders of the Eisenhower administration then in office.

The new resolution, carrying last year's action a step forward, called on General Assembly President Mongi Slim to name the 17-nation committee. It will report back to the 1962 assembly with its suggestions and recommendations.

Rival Asian-African resolutions on another issue of colonialism—the Dutch-Indonesian dispute over control of Dutch-controlled West New Guinea—failed to get the two-thirds majorities necessary for assembly adoption.

A 13-nation resolution, sponsored chiefly by the former French colonies in Africa, received a 53-41 vote with nine abstentions. A six-nation resolution supported by India, Bolivia and the United Arab Republic among others received a 41-40 vote with 21 abstentions.

Both resolutions proposed the two countries negotiate their differences over the Pacific island territory that the Netherlands now holds and Indonesia claims.

Mrs. Gibbs said, before she pleaded guilty to first-degree manslaughter, that she shot her husband to protect the couple's 10 children, three of them by her marriage to Gibbs.

Sentencing Set For Friday In Kidnaping Case

CLEVELAND (AP) — Sentencing has been set for Friday for George Edward Bentley, 43, convicted by a U.S. District Court jury on charges of kidnaping two women in Avon Lake and forcing them to ride to Jackhorn, Ky.

Logan Mullins, 26, indicted as Bentley's partner in the July 2 incident, was acquitted by the same jury Monday. Irwin Barnett, Bentley's attorney, said he will appeal.

The case was the first tried in the Northern District of Ohio under the Lindbergh Act. The jury did not recommend the death penalty. Judge Charles J. McNamee will determine Bentley's prison term, limited under the law to life imprisonment.

The prosecution charged Bentley and Mullins kidnaped Mrs. Dorothy M. Stancil, 42, of suburban Lakewood and Mrs. Sandra Goslin Davison, 23, of Brownsville, Pa. It was charged Bentley first beat Mrs. Stancil on the head with a lug wrench.

Miss Patsy Jo Ramsey, Bentley's common-law wife, also went on the ride to Kentucky, the prosecution charged. She was not mentioned as a kidnap victim in the indictment, however.

Mullins testified Bentley had forced him to go on the ride. Both are natives of Kentucky. They had been living in Lorain.

State Suspends City Club Permit

The Department of Liquor Control has decreed a 14-day suspension for the Buckeye Club, 616 Dresden Ave., for its conviction in Municipal Court on Sept. 25 for Sunday sales.

The suspension will begin at noon Dec. 6 and end at noon Dec. 20.

Counsel for the state director dismissed a violation for Sunday sale and consumption of intoxicating liquor in and upon the permit premises and decided to proceed on the violation for conviction. The hearing was held Nov. 20 in Columbus.

The case was referred to the liquor department after city police raided the tavern following the complaint from a woman patron who had been asked to leave. The tavern has a D-4 permit.

The Kitty Kat Club on Route 7 near Steubenville has been given a 7-day suspension from noon Dec. 8 to noon Dec. 15 for selling intoxicating liquor to a minor on Oct. 13.

77 Officials Given Forms

The first 77 certificates of election were issued Monday by the County Election Board to men and women who were named to city and village posts Nov. 7 and who have complied with the "Corrupt Practices Act" by filing sworn statements of their campaign expenses.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board, said more of the certificates will be mailed today—principally to those named to offices in townships and school districts. He emphasized that state law forbids the board to issue the certificates unless the successful candidates have filed the required expense reports.

Obtaining a certificate of election is one of the steps for an official-elect to qualify to assume office. Persons elected with write-in votes also must pay the filing fee for the office before the certificate can be issued. Since most of the write-ins were named in small subdivisions, the $1 minimum filing fee applies in virtually all cases, O'Hanlon said.

Meanwhile, the board has started its annual year-end check on East Liverpool voter registration lists. It expects to complete the task before the end of December. The check is required annually in registration areas to remove the names of persons who have not voted at least once in the preceding two years.

Postcard notices will be mailed about Jan. 2 to those whose names are removed from the rolls. Under a recently - enacted law, they will be allowed to reinstate their names by returning a postcard form to the board, provided they act within 30 days. Until the law was amended, re-registration was possible only in person.

Today 'MM' Means Mitch Miller

Gone are the days when a postcard simply addressed "MM NY" would be delivered automatically to Marilyn Monroe Miller.

Today the chances are such a card would be tossed into one of the bags carrying the fan mail inspired by a musical genius named Mitch Miller, a man who had the audacity to muscle in on both "The Untouchables" and Elliot Ness and emerge a star instead of a statistic.

Despite this national notoriety the files still identifies the latterday MM as "Miller, Mitch; Oboist, Etc." The "Etc." must be a new way of spelling millionaire.

-:-

MITCH LAUGHED when we sat down to play the typewriter and showed him the category in which he was listed.

"See if you can find a review Virgil Thomson gave me about 18 or 19 years ago," he suggested. "It was this review that was almost directly responsible for my growing a beard.

"I'd promised myself that the first time a major music critic recognized me as a fine musician I'd be entitled to wear this Oscar of a real artist."

The clip was dated April 20, 1943, referred to a concert at Town Hall and said, in part:

"There is no other oboe playing quite like that of Mitchell Miller. The tone of it is woody and rich, like that of an oboe d'amour. It is warm and laughs and is sensuous, faun-like and wholly without acidity. It shades a line with all the graciousness of a human voice."

-:-

"THAT," I commented, "could almost be paraphrased to describe 'Sing Along With Mitch,' the warmth, the graciousness, the utter lack of acidity. How, in this era of TV violence and Westerns were you able to sell your show?"

"It happened by accident," Miller explained. "I heard that J. Walter Thompson was looking for a small-budget special for the Ford series. I made the contact, laid out the show, they liked it, apologized for only giving me $94,000 for the one-shotter (their average budget was $200,000 and Roz Russell got $500,000 for her show) and I guess the rest is history.

"The reaction to 'Sing Along' was so sincere and nationwide the nabobs perked up their ears and I made the sell for a series.

"ACTUALLY we had one great advantage. Since there was not then, and is not now, anything quite like our show, sponsors couldn't point to a trend show and tell their agencies or the networks, 'Give me one of those.' Agencies and networks are legislative monopolies. They can only judge names and weigh costs, not talent.

"One of the reasons I was so confident the time was ripe for a show such as ours clicking," Mitch continued, "was the sale of 14 'Sing Along' albums. Seven million copies were sold over a three-and-a-half-year period.

"I figured that if there were that many people willing to pay to listen to this kind of entertainment, they'd certainly enjoy tuning in for nothing.

"It's always been a misconception that kids buy most of the record output. The truth is that only 8 per cent of the half a billion dollars worth of records sold last year were cut by those greasy-haired, pompadoured kid phenoms.

"The 92 per cent consisted of good music and fine vocals, recorded by such artists as Lena Horne, Sinatra, Nat (King) Cole, Tony Bennett, Rosie Clooney and a handful of other truly great singers."

-:-

IT SEEMED, we thought out loud, that everyone on the show has a ball taping it, that they all appear to be old friends.

"We are," Mitch said. "Some of these people have been with me for 10 years. Some worked as singing sidemen with Andre Kostelanetz when I played the oboe with him. They also sang in opera, Broadway musicals and with symphonic orchestras.

"Four of the boys are cantors — Jack Brown, Earl Rogers, Jess Randolf and William Venture.

"Bill's the busiest one over the weekend. On Saturday's he's a singing cantor in a synagog and on Sundays he sings at Catholic services. They also make a good buck doing cigarette commercials, jingles, anything that'll cause residuals to flow."

Mitch kept looking at his watch, then got up to leave.

"I'd better get to work," he said, "we're only 14 shows ahead now and I want to keep it that way. No pressure cooking for me. I'm in TV for fun, not an ulcer."

MM was on his way, by the same route he came, subway.

$42,136 Reported

Midland Charities Fund Campaign Reaches 93%

The Midland Area United Fund Drive has achieved 93 per cent, or $42,136.56, of its goal of $45,471, it was reported at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Midland Area Combined Charities Monday night.

The amount is $3,334.44 short of the goal and will be the total, unless more pledges or donations are received, to be reported at a a final Beaver County meeting Thursday evening at the Penn Beaver Hotel at Rochester.

Charles L. Smith, president, and Nile H. Wain, executive secretary, plan to attend the dinner meeting as Midland representatives.

Wain reported the amount collected is $398.19 less than the $42,534.75 raised last year when the goal was more than $37,000. The goal was raised about 20 per cent for this year's drive.

Smith said the campaign committee "did a good job in spite of the fact we didn't meet our goal." Robert C. Kelker, a Crucible Steel Co. superintendent, was general campaign chairman, and Joseph D'Alesio, United Steelworkers Local 1212 president, was co-chairman.

The only way to raise additional funds would be to ask present contributors to give more but several members said they feel that the saturation point may have been reached.

Wain added that it was difficult to recruit volunteer workers. He said the employes combined charities of the Midland Works of Crucible Steel gave $23,000, about $300 less than last year. Smith and Charles R. Schmitt commented on the mill drive. The company pledged $11,500.

Wain reported that employes of the E. W. Bliss Co. gave $1,200 and the company $800. About $1,756 was raised at the county level.

Wain said the solicitation of barbers and beauticians is not finished nor in the retail trade where several contacts remain to be made.

He gave financial reports and William Black, the treasurer's. Directors will skip their December meeting and meet next in January at Lincoln High School.

New Effort Due By Coast Guard To Reach Boat

CONNEAUT, Ohio (AP) — A Coast Guard cutter was to try again today to reach a stricken fishing tug that grounded Monday in shallow water about 70 yards off the Lake Erie shore.

The Coast Guard said the three crewmen who spent the night on the 60 foot vessel were in good condition and in no danger, despite heavy waves and strong winds. Two crewmen were rescued Monday.

The tug is located about 10 miles east of here near Elk Creek. A life line extending from the beach to the disabled tug.

Rescue operations were halted Monday night by waves 15 feet high and winds of 30 miles an hour from the north. Crewmen Daniel Schmidt, 40, of Conneaut, and Chris Larson, 75, of Erie, Pa., were rescued.

The Coast Guard said the other crewmen decided to stay with the boat. They were identified as Ted Lindall, 40, of Conneaut, the skipper, and crewmen, Ed Finemaker, 60, and William Shey, 30.

A-Powered Merchant Ship Gets First Fuel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nuclear-powered merchant ship Savannah is getting its first load of fuel.

An Atomic Energy Commission spokesman said the loading of the $35.6 million ship's reactors with 17,000 pounds of uranium oxide fuel is expected to be completed this week at the Camden, N.J., shipyards. The fuel is enough to provide service for 3½ years without refueling.

The Savannah, first ship of its kind, is being built by the AEC and the Maritime Administration as a demonstration vessel.

Ex-Nazi, Wife Plead Guilty To Spying For U.S.

KIEV, Soviet Union (AP) — A former member of Nazi Germany's Waffen SS and his wife pleaded guilty today to charges of spying for the United States.

Adolf Werner, 51, of Karlsruhe, West Germany, acknowledged his guilt before a three-man district military court but said he had actually done almost nothing for the Americans.

Werner, who was a staff sergeant with the Waffen SS — the front-line military organization of the Nazi elite guard—was head of the shoe department in a Karlsruhe department store before his arrest near Kiev Sept. 2.

He and his wife, Hermina, 45, came to the Soviet Union as tourists.

Werner acknowledged photographing military objectives, making sketches and making notes.

Defendant Blamed For 'Illicit Affair'

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—The prosecution in Donald J. Miller's second-degree murder trial told common pleas court Monday that the defendant was having an illicit affair with his aunt. Miller is accused of slaying her husband—his uncle—last Feb. 13.

A three-judge panel is hearing the case. The judges visited the scene where Edward Bobo, 40, was killed with a shotgun blast. It happened in a barn at the farm residence five miles northeast of Athens where Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Bobo lived.

Miller, 21, claims the shooting was an accident. He said Bobo tried to hit him with an axe after they argued, and that he, Miller, warded off the blow with the shotgun and it discharged. But the state alleges that Miller hid in the barn waiting to kill his uncle.

Today 'MM' Means Mitch Miller

Gone are the days when a postcard simply addressed "MM NY" would be delivered automatically to Marilyn Monroe Miller.

Today the chances are such a card would be tossed into one of the bags carrying the fan mail inspired by a musical genius named Mitch Miller, a man who had the audacity to muscle in on both "The Untouchables" and Elliot Ness and emerge a star instead of a statistic.

Despite this national notoriety the files still identifies the latterday MM as "Miller, Mitch; Oboist, Etc." The "Etc." must be a new way of spelling millionaire.

-:-

MITCH LAUGHED when we sat down to play the typewriter and showed him the category in which he was listed.

"See if you can find a review Virgil Thomson gave me about 18 or 19 years ago," he suggested. "It was this review that was almost directly responsible for my growing a beard.

"I'd promised myself that the first time a major music critic recognized me as a fine musician I'd be entitled to wear this Oscar of a real artist."

The clip was dated April 20, 1943, referred to a concert at Town Hall and said, in part:

"There is no other oboe playing quite like that of Mitchell Miller. The tone of it is woody and rich, like that of an oboe d'amour. It is warm and laughs and is sensuous, faun-like and wholly without acidity. It shades a line with all the graciousness of a human voice."

-:-

"THAT," I commented, "could almost be paraphrased to describe 'Sing Along With Mitch,' the warmth, the graciousness, the utter lack of acidity. How, in this era of TV violence and Westerns were you able to sell your show?"

"It happened by accident," Miller explained. "I heard that J. Walter Thompson was looking for a small-budget special for the Ford series. I made the contact, laid out the show, they liked it, apologized for only giving me $94,000 for the one-shotter (their average budget was $200,000 and Roz Russell got $500,000 for her show) and I guess the rest is history.

"The reaction to 'Sing Along' was so sincere and nationwide the nabobs perked up their ears and I made the sell for a series.

"ACTUALLY we had one great advantage. Since there was not then, and is not now, anything quite like our show, sponsors couldn't point to a trend show and tell their agencies or the networks, 'Give me one of those.' Agencies and networks are legislative monopolies. They can only judge names and weigh costs, not talent.

"One of the reasons I was so confident the time was ripe for a show such as ours clicking," Mitch continued, "was the sale of 14 'Sing Along' albums. Seven million copies were sold over a three-and-a-half-year period.

"I figured that if there were that many people willing to pay to listen to this kind of entertainment, they'd certainly enjoy tuning in for nothing.

"It's always been a misconception that kids buy most of the record output. The truth is that only 8 per cent of the half a billion dollars worth of records sold last year were cut by those greasy-haired, pompadoured kid phenoms.

"The 92 per cent consisted of good music and fine vocals, recorded by such artists as Lena Horne, Sinatra, Nat (King) Cole, Tony Bennett, Rosie Clooney and a handful of other truly great singers."

-:-

IT SEEMED, we thought out loud, that everyone on the show has a ball taping it, that they all appear to be old friends.

"We are," Mitch said. "Some of these people have been with me for 10 years. Some worked as singing sidemen with Andre Kostelanetz when I played the oboe with him. They also sang in opera, Broadway musicals and with symphonic orchestras.

"Four of the boys are cantors — Jack Brown, Earl Rogers, Jess Randolf and William Venture.

"Bill's the busiest one over the weekend. On Saturday's he's a singing cantor in a synagog and on Sundays he sings at Catholic services. They also make a good buck doing cigarette commercials, jingles, anything that'll cause residuals to flow."

Mitch kept looking at his watch, then got up to leave.

"I'd better get to work," he said, "we're only 14 shows ahead now and I want to keep it that way. No pressure cooking for me. I'm in TV for fun, not an ulcer."

MM was on his way, by the same route he came, subway.

$42,136 Reported

Midland Charities Fund Campaign Reaches 93%

The Midland Area United Fund Drive has achieved 93 per cent, or $42,136.56, of its goal of $45,471, it was reported at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Midland Area Combined Charities Monday night.

The amount is $3,334.44 short of the goal and will be the total, unless more pledges or donations are received, to be reported at a a final Beaver County meeting Thursday evening at the Penn Beaver Hotel at Rochester.

Charles L. Smith, president, and Nile H. Wain, executive secretary, plan to attend the dinner meeting as Midland representatives.

Wain reported the amount collected is $398.19 less than the $42,534.75 raised last year when the goal was more than $37,000. The goal was raised about 20 per cent for this year's drive.

Smith said the campaign committee "did a good job in spite of the fact we didn't meet our goal." Robert C. Kelker, a Crucible Steel Co. superintendent, was general campaign chairman, and Joseph D'Alesio, United Steelworkers Local 1212 president, was co-chairman.

The only way to raise additional funds would be to ask present contributors to give more but several members said they feel that the saturation point may have been reached.

Wain added that it was difficult to recruit volunteer workers. He said the employes combined charities of the Midland Works of Crucible Steel gave $23,000, about $300 less than last year. Smith and Charles R. Schmitt commented on the mill drive. The company pledged $11,500.

Wain reported that employes of the E. W. Bliss Co. gave $1,200 and the company $800. About $1,756 was raised at the county level.

Wain said the solicitation of barbers and beauticians is not finished nor in the retail trade where several contacts remain to be made.

He gave financial reports and William Black, the treasurer's. Directors will skip their December meeting and meet next in January at Lincoln High School.

New Effort Due By Coast Guard To Reach Boat

CONNEAUT, Ohio (AP) — A Coast Guard cutter was to try again today to reach a stricken fishing tug that grounded Monday in shallow water about 70 yards off the Lake Erie shore.

The Coast Guard said the three crewmen who spent the night on the 60 foot vessel were in good condition and in no danger, despite heavy waves and strong winds. Two crewmen were rescued Monday.

The tug is located about 10 miles east of here near Elk Creek. A life line extending from the beach to the disabled tug.

Rescue operations were halted Monday night by waves 15 feet high and winds of 30 miles an hour from the north. Crewmen Daniel Schmidt, 40, of Conneaut, and Chris Larson, 75, of Erie, Pa., were rescued.

The Coast Guard said the other crewmen decided to stay with the boat. They were identified as Ted Lindall, 40, of Conneaut, the skipper, and crewmen, Ed Finemaker, 60, and William Shey, 30.

A-Powered Merchant Ship Gets First Fuel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nuclear-powered merchant ship Savannah is getting its first load of fuel.

An Atomic Energy Commission spokesman said the loading of the $35.6 million ship's reactors with 17,000 pounds of uranium oxide fuel is expected to be completed this week at the Camden, N.J., shipyards. The fuel is enough to provide service for 3½ years without refueling.

The Savannah, first ship of its kind, is being built by the AEC and the Maritime Administration as a demonstration vessel.

Ex-Nazi, Wife Plead Guilty To Spying For U.S.

KIEV, Soviet Union (AP) — A former member of Nazi Germany's Waffen SS and his wife pleaded guilty today to charges of spying for the United States.

Adolf Werner, 51, of Karlsruhe, West Germany, acknowledged his guilt before a three-man district military court but said he had actually done almost nothing for the Americans.

Werner, who was a staff sergeant with the Waffen SS — the front-line military organization of the Nazi elite guard—was head of the shoe department in a Karlsruhe department store before his arrest near Kiev Sept. 2.

He and his wife, Hermina, 45, came to the Soviet Union as tourists.

Werner acknowledged photographing military objectives, making sketches and making notes.

Defendant Blamed For 'Illicit Affair'

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—The prosecution in Donald J. Miller's second-degree murder trial told common pleas court Monday that the defendant was having an illicit affair with his aunt. Miller is accused of slaying her husband—his uncle—last Feb. 13.

A three-judge panel is hearing the case. The judges visited the scene where Edward Bobo, 40, was killed with a shotgun blast. It happened in a barn at the farm residence five miles northeast of Athens where Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Bobo lived.

Miller, 21, claims the shooting was an accident. He said Bobo tried to hit him with an axe after they argued, and that he, Miller, warded off the blow with the shotgun and it discharged. But the state alleges that Miller hid in the barn waiting to kill his uncle.

Foot Trouble Leads To Faulty Figure

When your feet hurt you don't worry about anything else. . .not even about gaining excess weight. It is difficult to determine the role foot troubles play in creeping poundage.

Ida Jean Kain

You sit down whenever possible, and do as little walking as you can get by with, thus lessening your calorie expenditure. When normal activity is restricted, calories quickly get ahead of requirements. It's the well known vicious circle. . .less activity, more weight. . .more weight, less activity.

Out-of-kilter posture can steam directly from foot ailments. Also, when you cannot get about freely, frustration and boredom set in. . .and boredom can lead you to the refrigerator at odd hours. Such piece-mealing quickly turns into habit. So, for want of strong feet your health is impaired and your figure ruined!

—:—

IF YOUR FEET hurt, visit a good foot doctor, a podiatrist or a chiropodist. It would be far better to get at the root of your trouble, your feet, than it would be to spend money at a reducing salon!

The best possible exercise for the feet is to walk correctly. Check the way you walk. Nature intended for feet to bear the weight on the outer borders. In walking, point toes straight ahead.

Pointing toes out throws the weight toward the inner borders, which is the weak part of the foot. Do the heels of your shoes run down toward the inner edge? This is evidence of wrong weight-bearing.

To walk corectly, place the heel down squarely. Shift the weight down the foot more toward the outer border than the inner border. Grip and push off with toes.

Special exercises help to strengthen the feet. The following are adapted from the Physical Training WAC Manual. The manual stresses that poorly fitted shoes, high heels, too short stockings and neglect of the feet have made women's feet a source of trouble.

Now the exercises: Stand with feet parallel. Rise on toes. Return to starting position, feet parallel. Shift weight to outer borders of feet. Return to starting position. Shift weight to heels.

When you get the gist of this routine, the three movements can be done consecutively, up on toes, roll to outer edge of feet and back to heels, without returning to starting position.

—:—

FOLLOW WITH foot circling. Sit on floor, legs outstretched, hands under one knee to hold leg off floor. Point toes as far as possible. Relax. Push heel as far forward as possible. Relax.

Combine the two movements. Turn foot in as far as possible. Relax. Turn foot out as far as possible. Relax. Circle the foot. Emphasize pulling up on arch. Do not twist leg from the knee. Repeat routine with other foot.

The greatest favor you can do your feet is to lighten the load they are forced to carry. When you stand and walk, all of you rests on the foot's 26 small bones and muscles!

Bringing Up A Family

Firmness Used To Teach Self-Control

A better understanding of how a young child develops and how he can most easily be guided and controlled could help many a mother and her child to enjoy each other. A New Jersey mother writes about her son, five? "He won't obey. I have kept him from playing with other children when he quarrels with them and behaves selfishly I have spanked him for going into the street, time and time again. I've put him in his room for talking back to his father and me and for not answering when he is called. I've tried to talk to him about sharing until I'm worn out. But the next day it's the same as before.

Dr. Garry Meyers

"Would he profit from attending a nursery school? Please help me if you can."

My reply, in part:

—:—

YOUR CHILD MIGHT profit greatly from attending a nursery school. No doubt you parents have tried hard to guide him but you expect too much of him when you suppose he can learn to share just by your talking to him about it.

Don't force him to share, but if you are present when he is with playmates, strive patiently to help him want to share, especially those toys other children can't easily harm. Show strong approval when he does share.

Why should you argue with him? What you mean by talking back to you and his dad is not clear. Be sure you don't talk back to him.

Draw the line between what you ask him to do and what you tell him to stop doing. When you say No, don't repeat it. Punish him effectively if he doesn't obey. Good punishment is a sound, quick smacking or paddling, or requiring him to sit in a chair unamused for 20 minutes. But when you ask him to do something, use eternal patience to win him to comply.

TO TRAIN HIM not to run into the street you will need to be outdoors with him. If he should run into the street, punish him instantly. Punishment must be immediate and there must be no exceptions.

Don't call him to come when he's out of sight. Go and tell him softly, face to face, what you wish to say.

Cuddle him when he is good. Talk gently and tenderly to him, read to him, make things and have fun with him. Be generous with deserved praise.

My bulletins, "First Steps in Training Tot in Safety," "Stubbornness" and "How to Teach Child Meaning of No," may be had by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Sentencing Set For Weirton Man In Tax Skip Case

WHEELING (AP) — Sentencing was set for Dec. 11 after Robert E. Rinehart of Weirton entered a plea of nolo contendere to a charge of income tax evasion yesterday in U. S. District Court.

Rinehart, indicted by the October federal grand jury, previously had pleaded innocent, but was allowed to change his plea. Nolo contendere means he will not make a defense against the charge although not admitting guilt.

The government claimed Rinehart, a native of Grafton, evaded payment of more than $20,000 in income taxes for the years 1957 and 1958.

The government contends that Rinehart actually earned $49,915 in 1957, but reported earnings of only $12,520. In 1958, he reported earnings of $6,078 when his true income was $22,300, the government alleges.

Rinehart was freed under $10,000 bond.

Minoso For Cunningham Is Top Deal

Majors Purchase 35 From Minors

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Minnie Minoso, one of baseball's top-flight performers for 12 years, joined super-star Stan Musial in the St. Louis Cardinal outfield today following his trade by the Chicago White Sox for outfielder-first baseman Joe Cunningham.

MINNIE MINOSO
He'll Play In Card Outfield.

The even swap, consummated Monday night after hours of negotiations, was the second inter-league deal of the day at the annual baseball convention. Cleveland sent right-handed pitcher Bobby Locke (4-4) to the Chicago Cubs for infielder Jerry Kindall (.242).

Johnny Keane, manager of the Cardinals, was almost as pleased by the acquisition of Minoso as he was when his daughter presented him with his second grandchild last week.

"Minnie will play left field and Musial will switch to right," he announced. "Stan is equally at home in right field as he is in left."

"The addition of Minoso not only gives us more experience in the outfield but it adds punch mixed in with Ken Boyer, Bill White and Musial. Also, it will enable us to bring along our two promising young outfielders, Charley James and Carl Warwick, the way we want to. They'll spell Musial and Minoso when they show signs of needing a rest."

Curt Flood, who finished strong last year, batting .322 in 132 games, will patrol center field. He is 23 to Musial's 41 and Minoso's listed 39, although some insist he is at least 42.

Al Lopez, manager of the White Sox, was just as pleased with Cunningham as Keane was with Minoso.

"Cunningham not only is a good hitter," said Al, "but he gives us maneuverability because he can play first base as well as the outfield."

The acquisition of Cunningham, who batted .286 with seven home runs and 40 RBIs in 113 games last year, paves the way for further trade possibilities. The White Sox reportedly are willing to swap Roy Sievers, their slugging first baseman, for either a starting pitcher or a third baseman. Sievers, 35, slammed 27 home runs and drove in 92 runs on a 295 batting average last season.

Minoso, despite his age, is still one of the fastest men in baseball and swings one of the biggest bats. The colorful Cuban led the White Sox in runs scored with 91, stole nine bases, hit 14 home runs and drove in 82 runs despite a .280 batting average, his lowest in 12 seasons with Cleveland and Chicago. He owns a lifetime mark of .305.

Cunningham also owns a better-than-.300 lifetime batting average in six years in the major leagues, all with the Cardinals. A left-handed hitter, Cunningham, 30, was runner-up to Henry Aaron of Milwaukee for the National League batting title in 1959, hitting .345.

It was a busy day for the talent-hungry major leaguers who purchased 35 minor league players for a record outlay of $680,000 in their annual raid of their rivals' farm systems.

Minnesota, Cleveland and the Los Angeles Angels selected four players apiece while Baltimore, Kansas City, Washington and the White Sox drafted three each.

The Senators had first pick and drew Ken Hamlin, a weak-hitting shortstop who only a year ago had been acquired by the Angels in the special American League draft for $75,000. This time, Hamlin cost $25,000, the standard minor league draft price. The selections included 15 first-year players at $12,000 each.

Some of the better known names drafted were outfielder Gino Cimoli by Kansas City, pitcher Moe Drabowsky by Cincinnati, pitcher Billy Short by Baltimore, and infielder Billy Consolo by the Phillies. Among the lesser known selectees, the best buys appeared to be third baseman George Banks, by Minnesota; pitcher Don Rudolph by Cleveland, and pitcher John Anderson by St. Louis. Banks, a Yankee farmhand, batted .296 and slammed 30 home runs at Binghamton; Rudolph had an 18-9 record at Indianapolis and Anderson was 14-9 at Rochester.

The New York Mets and Houston Colts, newest members in the 10-team expanded National League, were permitted two choices apiece at the expiration of the regular draft. The Mets drew pitchers Bob Moorhead (5-6 at Indianapolis) and Aubrey Gatewood (3-5 at Des Moines) while the Colts selected pitcher Dean Stone (12-8 at Charleston) and outfielder John Weekly (.287 at Victoria).

'Bama Must Face Auburn

Alabama Maintains First; OSU Only 7 Points Behind

By TOM DYGARD

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Alabama goes against traditional rival Auburn here Saturday as the nation's No. 1 college football team — but only by a narrow margin.

The Crimson Tide, unbeaten and untied in nine games, sat out an open date last weekend and lost considerable ground in The Associated Press poll to Ohio State's Buckeyes, who walloped Michigan 50-20.

The semifinal poll showed Alabama slipping from 39 first-place votes last week to only 26 this week among the 49 sports writers and sportscasters on the AP panel.

The Buckeyes from the Big Ten, finishing an 8-0-1 season in strong fashion, increased their first-place draw from 6 last week to 21 this week.

Louisiana State is third, Texas fourth, Mississippi fifth and Colorado six, each moving up one rung.

Minnesota, third last week, dropped to seventh after losing 23-21 to Wisconsin.

Alabama, counting heavily on its awesome defense, is a strong favorite to dump Auburn and wrap up its first undefeated and untied season in 16 years, and then head into the Sugar Bowl.

The oddsmakers figure that Alabama is two touchdowns better than thrice-beaten Auburn, but Alabama Coach Paul Bryant, whose team has yielded only three touchdowns through nine games, figures Auburn should give his vaunted defense a stern test.

Auburn Coach Ralph Jordan, who has seen his team lose three games by a grand total of four points, says Alabama "is a wonderful football team," but he adds: "We're not conceding anything. We've got a chance to win."

In the poll, Alabama ran up a total of 459 points on the basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for a second-place vote, etc. Ohio State was only seven behind with 452.

Reds Purchase Pitcher Dave Sisler From Nats

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds today announced the purchase of pitcher Dave Sisler from the Washington Senators for $75,000.

Sisler, 30, had a 2-8 record with the Senators in 45 games, all in relief. The right-hander had a 4.20 earned run average.

Washington drafted Sisler for $75,000 last year from Detroit in the expansion draft.

Washington's decision to sell Sisler to the Reds probably was an aftermath of the Senators' purchase of Claude Osteen, a young left-hander, from the Reds last fall.

The colorful Cuban led the White Sox in runs scored with 91, stole nine bases, hit 14 home runs and drove in 82 runs despite a .280 batting average, his lowest in 12 seasons with Cleveland and Chicago. He owns a lifetime mark of .305.

Cunningham also owns a better-than-.300 lifetime batting average in six years in the major leagues, all with the Cardinals. A left-handed hitter, Cunningham, 30, was runner-up to Henry Aaron of Milwaukee for the National League batting title in 1959, hitting .345.

It was a busy day for the talent-hungry major leaguers who purchased 35 minor league players for a record outlay of $680,000 in their annual raid of their rivals' farm systems.

Minnesota, Cleveland and the Los Angeles Angels selected four players apiece while Baltimore, Kansas City, Washington and the White Sox drafted three each.

The Senators had first pick and drew Ken Hamlin, a weak-hitting shortstop who only a year ago had been acquired by the Angels in the special American League draft for $75,000. This time, Hamlin cost $25,000, the standard minor league draft price. The selections included 15 first-year players at $12,000 each.

Some of the better known names drafted were outfielder Gino Cimoli by Kansas City, pitcher Moe Drabowsky by Cincinnati, pitcher Billy Short by Baltimore, and infielder Billy Consolo by the Phillies. Among the lesser known selectees, the best buys appeared to be third baseman George Banks, by Minnesota; pitcher Don Rudolph by Cleveland, and pitcher John Anderson by St. Louis. Banks, a Yankee farmhand, batted .296 and slammed 30 home runs at Binghamton; Rudolph had an 18-9 record at Indianapolis and Anderson was 14-9 at Rochester.

The New York Mets and Houston Colts, newest members in the 10-team expanded National League, were permitted two choices apiece at the expiration of the regular draft. The Mets drew pitchers Bob Moorhead (5-6 at Indianapolis) and Aubrey Gatewood (3-5 at Des Moines) while the Colts selected pitcher Dean Stone (12-8 at Charleston) and outfielder John Weekly (.287 at Victoria).

'Bama Must Face Auburn

Alabama Maintains First; OSU Only 7 Points Behind

By TOM DYGARD

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Alabama goes against traditional rival Auburn here Saturday as the nation's No. 1 college football team — but only by a narrow margin.

The Crimson Tide, unbeaten and untied in nine games, sat out an open date last weekend and lost considerable ground in The Associated Press poll to Ohio State's Buckeyes, who walloped Michigan 50-20.

The semifinal poll showed Alabama slipping from 39 first-place votes last week to only 26 this week among the 49 sports writers and sportscasters on the AP panel.

The Buckeyes from the Big Ten, finishing an 8-0-1 season in strong fashion, increased their first-place draw from 6 last week to 21 this week.

Louisiana State is third, Texas fourth, Mississippi fifth and Colorado six, each moving up one rung.

Minnesota, third last week, dropped to seventh after losing 23-21 to Wisconsin.

Alabama, counting heavily on its awesome defense, is a strong favorite to dump Auburn and wrap up its first undefeated and untied season in 16 years, and then head into the Sugar Bowl.

The oddsmakers figure that Alabama is two touchdowns better than thrice-beaten Auburn, but Alabama Coach Paul Bryant, whose team has yielded only three touchdowns through nine games, figures Auburn should give his vaunted defense a stern test.

Auburn Coach Ralph Jordan, who has seen his team lose three games by a grand total of four points, says Alabama "is a wonderful football team," but he adds: "We're not conceding anything. We've got a chance to win."

In the poll, Alabama ran up a total of 459 points on the basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for a second-place vote, etc. Ohio State was only seven behind with 452.

Reds Purchase Pitcher Dave Sisler From Nats

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds today announced the purchase of pitcher Dave Sisler from the Washington Senators for $75,000.

Sisler, 30, had a 2-8 record with the Senators in 45 games, all in relief. The right-hander had a 4.20 earned run average.

Washington drafted Sisler for $75,000 last year from Detroit in the expansion draft.

Washington's decision to sell Sisler to the Reds probably was an aftermath of the Senators' purchase of Claude Osteen, a young left-hander, from the Reds last fall.

Wagman's Trial Set Wednesday

NEW YORK (AP) — Gambler Aaron Wagman, already convicted of trying to fix a football game, goes on trial Wednesday charged with 37 counts of bribery in the 1960-61 college basketball point-shaving scandals.

Wagman, convicted on charges of attempting to fix the Florida-Florida State football game in 1960, had his case here put off Monday after his attorney said he was awaiting a bill of particulars from the district attorney.

At the same time, Wagman's associate, Joseph Green, pleaded guilty in General Sessions Court to charges of bribing Columbia University basketball player Fred Portnoy to shave points in games during the 1960-61 season.

Sentencing was set for Jan. 3 with Green, 37, facing a term of from one to 10 years and a fine of up to $10,000 on each of two counts to which he pleaded guilty. His case was the first called in the basketball scandals in which 37 players from 22 colleges were named.

Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan said at the time of Green's indictment last summer that Portnoy, 19, a forward for the Lions, had agreed to shave points in four games and allegedly received $1,140. The games involved were against Rutgers, Army, Penn and Colgate.

Three others were indicted along with Green as co-conspirators with Wagman. They were Bill Minnerly, Connecticut football captain in 1960, and Jerry Vogel and Dan Quindazzi, former Alabama basketball players.

Hogan said when the indictments were returned that Wagman allegedly paid bribes totaling $14,250 to various college players in attempts to fix the point spread on games.

Three other cases — those of Quindazzi and Vogel, and Lou Brown, former basketball player at the University of North Carolina — also were adjourned until Wednesday. The case of Joseph Hacken, named on 17 counts of bribery, was deferred to await the outcome of a defense motion to inspect the grand jury minutes.

3 Lettermen In Fold At Midland

Leopards Set To Open Card Friday Night

By ANDY NUZZO

Coach Hank Kuzma is in his second season at the helm of the Midland Leopards and he is out to better last season's record of 16 wins and seven losses, which included Section 8 play where he guided the Leopards to a second-place finish with 10 wins and two defeats.

Kuzma has three lettermen returning from last season's squad, but a lot of help is expected from Ed Olkowski's reserve squad, which won 21 out of 22 games.

The highlight of the season will be the Midland Holiday Tournament. The favorite will be Fort Cherry High School, Pennsylvania Class B champions last season.

—:—

WELLSVILLE, sectional champion last season, and Monaca, the big favorite to take the Section 8 title, this season, also will appear along with host Midland.

Other formidable opponents the Leopards will meet are Section 3 champion Aliquippa, East Liverpool, Ambridge, Beaver Falls, Ellwood City, Pittsburgh Westinghouse and Pittsburgh Central Catholic.

Section 8 play will begin on Jan. 2. Midland again will play many of its dangerous section opponents — Monaca, New Brighton, Freedom, Beaver, Rochester, Hopewell and Riverside, a new school whose first graduating class are juniors this year.

Returning are veterans Al Aloi, Sam Forester and Rich Lake. Aloi stands 6-foot-½, Forester 6-foot-1½ and Lake 5-foot-9.

Senior Lou Deangelo 5-foot-11, will miss a good part of the season because of a knee operation he underwent last week. Junior Tom Flasco, 5-foot-10, is still nursing a football injury and his services are lost for an unknown time.

The Leopard varsity will not have great height and will depend mostly on its speed.

—:—

SENIORS fighting for a starting berth along with the letterman are Harry Petrosky, 5-foot-11, Steve Trbovich, 5-foot-11, George Drakulich, 5-foot-8, and Tom Boyd, 6 feet.

Juniors in contention for a starting job are Gary Perkins, Earl Vaughn, each 5-foot-10, Ray Hoppa, 5-foot-7, Bill Sallis, 6-foot-2, the tallest man on the squad, and Henry Slappy, 5-foot-11.

Kuzma said that he was not set on a starting lineup at this time.

Murphy, a six-footer, lettered as a sophomore last year. Gallagher also stands an even six feet.

UCLA Wants Bucks As Rose Bowl Foe

LOS ANGELES (AP) — UCLA's opponent in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day may not be announced until this week-end, but it is evident on the campus and among players that Ohio State is the team UCLA wants.

"Beat Ohio State" read some off the placards carried in Monday's victory demonstration on the UCLA campus, where Coach Bill Barnes told the students: "I think we can beat anyone, and that goes for Ohio State, in the Rose Bowl."

The two teams met earlier this season in Columbus, Ohio, and the Buckeyes emerged with a 13-3 victory.

Maphis has been hampered by an ankle injury during pre-season workouts.

Rens Beat Tapers On Late Rally

By The Associated Press

A big second period made the difference for the Pittsburgh Rens in the American Basketball League Monday night and carried them to a full-game lead over Cleveland in the Eastern Division.

The Rens, with Connie Hawkins and Bucky Bolyard leading the way again, beat the Washington Tapers 111-102 although they were outscored in three of the four periods of the game. In the second period, Pittsburgh outscored the Tapers 31-17—getting 10 points in a row at one stage.

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS

Sealed bids will be received by the undersigned Clerk of the Board of Education of the Beaver Local School District, herein referred to as the Board, in the County of Coshocton, Ohio, at the office of the Clerk in the Beaver Public School, State Route 7, R. D. 3, Lisbon, Ohio, until 1 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, on the 20th day of December, 1961, at which time the bids will be publicly opened and read for the purchase of bonds of the Board in the aggregate amount of $253,000 authorized by resolution adopted Nov. 27, 1961.

Said bonds shall be dated the first day of January, 1962, shall be in the denomination of $1000 each, shall draw interest payable semi-annually on the first days of June and December of each year beginning June 1, 1962, at the rate of four per centum per annum. Anyone desiring to do so may present a bid for said bonds based upon their bearing a different rate of interest, but not in excess of 6%, provided that where a fractional interest rate is bid, such fraction shall be one-eighth of one per cent or a multiple thereof.

Said bonds mature as follows: $11,000 on December 1 in each of the years from 1963 to 1973, inclusive, and $12,000 on December 1 in each of the years from 1974 to 1984, inclusive.

Said bonds are issued for the purpose of constructing additions to existing school buildings, furnishing and equipping school buildings and improving school sites.

Said bonds are payable at the office of the legal depository of the Board, presently The Farmers National Bank of Salem, Lisbon Branch, Lisbon, Ohio, and are supported by unlimited taxes.

Said bids will be promptly considered and said bonds will be sold to the highest bidder offering the lowest interest rate at not less than par and accrued interest. The lowest interest rate will be determined by calculating the total interest to stated maturity at the rate bid and deducting therefrom the premium bid. If each of two or more bids is the highest bid offering the lowest interest rate, the bonds will be awarded on such one of said highest bids as is chosen by lot. All bids must be accompanied by cash, bank cashier's or official's check, or certified check, payable to the Board, or any combination thereof, aggregating one per cent of the par amount of the bonds bid for, under condition that if the bid is accepted, the bidder will receive and pay for such bonds in accordance with the terms and provisions of this notice. No bank bidding for such bonds shall file its own cashier's or official's check, nor a check certified by it. Such security shall be held by the Board unused pending delivery of the bonds and forfeited as full liquidated damages in the event of default by the successful bidder.

The proceedings for this issue have been taken under the supervision of Squire, Sanders & Dempsey, Bond Attorneys, Cleveland, Ohio, whose approving opinion may be obtained by the successful bidder at his expense. A complete transcript of proceedings and the printed bonds will be furnished by the Board, together with a certificate showing no litigation pending or threatened at the time of the delivery, to enjoin delivery or to contest the validity of the bonds or the power to issue them or the levy or collection of taxes for their payment.

In the event the interest on said bonds should by act of Congress or otherwise become subject to Federal Income Taxes prior to delivery, the successful bidder may refuse to accept delivery, and in such event his bid security shall be returned without interest.

It is contemplated that the Board will meet at 8 p.m. on the 20th day of December, 1961, to consider said bids and make an award.

The bonds will be delivered at the office of the undersigned or such other place as may be agreed on with the successful bidder; if outside of the limits of the School District the bidder shall pay expense of delivery at that place.

Before making tender of the bonds at the place of delivery the Board shall give written notice to the successful bidder not later than the third day before the proposed tender, of the fact that the bonds, transcript, no-litigation certificate, and approving opinion will be available for delivery and giving the date and hour for the tender at the said place of delivery, provided however that nothing herein contained shall prevent the making of a mutually agreeable arrangement for the delivery of the bonds either at the place fixed for delivery or elsewhere.

If such notice has not been given or waived by the successful bidder and the bonds, transcript, no-litigation certificate and approving opinion are not available for delivery to the successful bidder at such place of delivery on or before 12:00 noon of the 30th calendar day after the day fixed for the receipt of bids, and the successful bidder shall not be in default of any of his obligations, he shall have the right thereafter and so long as no such tender by the Board shall yet have been made, to cancel the contract of purchase; such right to be exercised by delivering to the undersigned (or to his office during business hours) written notice of such cancellation. Such bidder shall thereupon be entitled to the return of the deposit which accompanied his bid and it shall be returned to him immediately.

Said bids shall be sealed and endorsed "Bid for School Improvement Bonds".

The right is reserved to reject bids.

Wagman's Trial Set Wednesday

NEW YORK (AP) — Gambler Aaron Wagman, already convicted of trying to fix a football game, goes on trial Wednesday charged with 37 counts of bribery in the 1960-61 college basketball point-shaving scandals.

Wagman, convicted on charges of attempting to fix the Florida-Florida State football game in 1960, had his case here put off Monday after his attorney said he was awaiting a bill of particulars from the district attorney.

At the same time, Wagman's associate, Joseph Green, pleaded guilty in General Sessions Court to charges of bribing Columbia University basketball player Fred Portnoy to shave points in games during the 1960-61 season.

Sentencing was set for Jan. 3 with Green, 37, facing a term of from one to 10 years and a fine of up to $10,000 on each of two counts to which he pleaded guilty. His case was the first called in the basketball scandals in which 37 players from 22 colleges were named.

Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan said at the time of Green's indictment last summer that Portnoy, 19, a forward for the Lions, had agreed to shave points in four games and allegedly received $1,140. The games involved were against Rutgers, Army, Penn and Colgate.

Three others were indicted along with Green as co-conspirators with Wagman. They were Bill Minnerly, Connecticut football captain in 1960, and Jerry Vogel and Dan Quindazzi, former Alabama basketball players.

Hogan said when the indictments were returned that Wagman allegedly paid bribes totaling $14,250 to various college players in attempts to fix the point spread on games.

Three other cases — those of Quindazzi and Vogel, and Lou Brown, former basketball player at the University of North Carolina — also were adjourned until Wednesday. The case of Joseph Hacken, named on 17 counts of bribery, was deferred to await the outcome of a defense motion to inspect the grand jury minutes.

3 Lettermen In Fold At Midland

Leopards Set To Open Card Friday Night

By ANDY NUZZO

Coach Hank Kuzma is in his second season at the helm of the Midland Leopards and he is out to better last season's record of 16 wins and seven losses, which included Section 8 play where he guided the Leopards to a second-place finish with 10 wins and two defeats.

Kuzma has three lettermen returning from last season's squad, but a lot of help is expected from Ed Olkowski's reserve squad, which won 21 out of 22 games.

The highlight of the season will be the Midland Holiday Tournament. The favorite will be Fort Cherry High School, Pennsylvania Class B champions last season.

—:—

WELLSVILLE, sectional champion last season, and Monaca, the big favorite to take the Section 8 title, this season, also will appear along with host Midland.

Other formidable opponents the Leopards will meet are Section 3 champion Aliquippa, East Liverpool, Ambridge, Beaver Falls, Ellwood City, Pittsburgh Westinghouse and Pittsburgh Central Catholic.

Section 8 play will begin on Jan. 2. Midland again will play many of its dangerous section opponents — Monaca, New Brighton, Freedom, Beaver, Rochester, Hopewell and Riverside, a new school whose first graduating class are juniors this year.

—:—

KUZMA lost six seniors from last season's squad. The main loss was All-Section player, Carl Anderson, Jim Perkins, Ron Caione, Larry Meraige, Sam Sallis and Dave Bruno.

Returning are veterans Al Aloi, Sam Forester and Rich Lake. Aloi stands 6-foot-½, Forester 6-foot-1½ and Lake 5-foot-9.

Senior Lou Deangelo 5-foot-11, will miss a good part of the season because of a knee operation he underwent last week. Junior Tom Flasco, 5-foot-10, is still nursing a football injury and his services are lost for an unknown time.

The Leopard varsity will not have great height and will depend mostly on its speed.

—:—

SENIORS fighting for a starting berth along with the letterman are Harry Petrosky, 5-foot-11, Steve Trbovich, 5-foot-11, George Drakulich, 5-foot-8, and Tom Boyd, 6 feet.

Juniors in contention for a starting job are Gary Perkins, Earl Vaughn, each 5-foot-10, Ray Hoppa, 5-foot-7, Bill Sallis, 6-foot-2, the tallest man on the squad, and Henry Slappy, 5-foot-11.

Kuzma said that he was not set on a starting lineup at this time.

Midland will open its season Dec. 1 at home against Burgettstown. It has a nine - game exhibition schedule before breaking into section play. Midway through section play the Leopards will play an exhibition game with Pittsburgh Central Catholic.

By The Associated Press

A big second period made the difference for the Pittsburgh Rens in the American Basketball League Monday night and carried them to a full-game lead over Cleveland in the Eastern Division.

The Rens, with Connie Hawkins and Bucky Bolyard leading the way again, beat the Washington Tapers 111-102 although they were outscored in three of the four periods of the game. In the second period, Pittsburgh outscored the Tapers 31-17—getting 10 points in a row at one stage.

UCLA Wants Bucks As Rose Bowl Foe

LOS ANGELES (AP) — UCLA's opponent in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day may not be announced until this week-end, but it is evident on the campus and among players that Ohio State is the team UCLA wants.

"Beat Ohio State" read some off the placards carried in Monday's victory demonstration on the UCLA campus, where Coach Bill Barnes told the students: "I think we can beat anyone, and that goes for Ohio State, in the Rose Bowl."

The two teams met earlier this season in Columbus, Ohio, and the Buckeyes emerged with a 13-3 victory.

D. 3, Lisbon, Ohio, until 1 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, on the 20th day of December, 1961, at which time the bids will be publicly opened and read for the purchase of bonds of the Board in the aggregate amount of $252,000 authorized by resolution adopted Nov. 27, 1961.

Said bonds shall be dated the first day of January, 1962, shall be in the denomination of $1000 each, shall draw interest payable semi-annually on the first days of June and December of each year beginning June 1, 1962, at the rate of four per centum per annum. Anyone desiring to do so may present a bid for said bonds based upon their bearing a different rate of interest, but not in excess of 6%, provided that where a fractional interest rate is bid, such fraction shall be one-eighth of one per cent or a multiple thereof.

Said bonds mature as follows: $11,000 on December 1 in each of the years from 1963 to 1973, inclusive, and $12,000 on December 1 in each of the years from 1974 to 1984, inclusive.

Said bonds are issued for the purpose of constructing additions to existing school buildings, furnishing and equipping school buildings and improving school sites.

Said bonds are payable at the office of the legal depository of the Board, presently The Farmers National Bank of Salem, Lisbon Branch, Lisbon, Ohio, and are supported by unlimited taxes.

Said bids will be promptly considered and said bonds will be sold to the highest bidder offering the lowest interest rate at not less than par and accrued interest. The lowest interest rate will be determined by calculating the total interest to stated maturity at the rate bid and deducting therefrom the premium bid. If each of two or more bids is the highest bid offering the lowest interest rate, the bonds will be awarded on such one of said highest bids as is chosen by lot. All bids must be accompanied by cash, bank cashier's or official's check, or certified check, payable to the Board, or any combination thereof, aggregating one per cent of the par amount of the bonds bid for, under condition that if the bid is accepted, the bidder will receive and pay for such bonds in accordance with the terms and provisions of this notice. No bank bidding for such bonds shall file its own cashier's or official's check, nor a check certified by it. Such security shall be held by the Board unused pending delivery of the bonds and forfeited as full liquidated damages in the event of default by the successful bidder.

The proceedings for this issue have been taken under the supervision of Squire, Sanders & Dempsey, Bond Attorneys, Cleveland, Ohio, whose approving opinion may be obtained by the successful bidder at his expense. A complete transcript of proceedings and the printed bonds will be furnished by the Board, together with a certificate showing no litigation pending or threatened at the time of the delivery, to enjoin delivery or to contest the validity of the bonds or the power to issue them or the levy or collection of taxes for their payment.

In the event the interest on said bonds should by act of Congress or otherwise become subject to Federal Income Taxes prior to delivery, the successful bidder may refuse to accept delivery, and in such event his bid security shall be returned without interest.

It is contemplated that the Board will meet at 8 p.m. on the 20th day of December, 1961, to consider said bids and make an award.

The bonds will be delivered at the office of the undersigned or such other place as may be agreed on with the successful bidder; if outside of the limits of the School District the bidder shall pay expense of delivery at that place.

Before making tender of the bonds at the place of delivery the Board shall give written notice to the successful bidder not later than the third day before the proposed tender, of the fact that the bonds, transcript, no-litigation certificate, and approving opinion will be available for delivery and giving the date and hour for the tender at the said place of delivery, provided however that nothing herein contained shall prevent the making of a mutually agreeable arrangement for the delivery of the bonds either at the place fixed for delivery or elsewhere.

If such notice has not been given or waived by the successful bidder and the bonds, transcript, no-litigation certificate and approving opinion are not available for delivery to the successful bidder at such place of delivery on or before 12:00 noon of the 30th calendar day after the day fixed for the receipt of bids, and the successful bidder shall not be in default of any of his obligations, he shall have the right thereafter and so long as no such tender by the Board shall yet have been made, to cancel the contract of purchase; such right to be exercised by delivering to the undersigned (or to his office during business hours) written notice of such cancellation. Such bidder shall thereupon be entitled to the return of the deposit which accompanied his bid and it shall be returned to him immediately.

Said bids shall be sealed and endorsed "Bid for School Improvement Bonds".

The right is reserved to reject bids.

INVENTORY CLEARANCE

LITTENS used car lot is overcrowded with trade ins. We must drastically reduce our inventory for three good reasons. Number 1. We must pay an inventory tax on every car in stock at the end of the year. Number 2. We would rather offer these cars to the buying public at a low price than wholesale them to used car dealers. Number 3. We must have space for additional trades.

Because we need the space so badly we are offering these useful cars at extremely low prices and on a no trade basis. We will help you dispose of your old car and can arrange no down payment financing if you have good credit. Come in early for the best selection.

INVENTORY CLEARANCE

LITTENS used car lot is overcrowded with trade ins. We must drastically reduce our inventory for three good reasons. Number 1. We must pay an inventory tax on every car in stock at the end of the year. Number 2. We would rather offer these cars to the buying public at a low price than wholesale them to used car dealers. Number 3. We must have space for additional trades.

Because we need the space so badly we are offering these useful cars at extremely low prices and on a no trade basis. We will help you dispose of your old car and can arrange no down payment financing if you have good credit. Come in early for the best selection.

"What would you recommend for a young dog on his way up?"

OFF THE RECORD

"Rollo, after this report, the best we can offer you is two cans of paint and a brush."

GRIN AND BEAR IT

"Sentencing them to the custody of their parents! . . . Obviously, his honor doesn't know what to do about juvenile delinquency, either!"

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I restore the brightness to some brass articles?

A. By soaking them in boiling water to which a little rock ammonia has been added. Then polish with a chamois.

Q. How can I soften the leather in a pair of inexpensive work shoes?

A. One very easy treatment which usually works is to place two scrubbed potatoes in each shoe, and let them stand overnight.

Q. How can I prevent the bottom crusts of my fruit pies from becoming soggy from the juices of the fruits?

A. Bake the shell of your pie for about five minutes before putting in the fruit, and this will prevent the juice from penetrating the crust.

Q. How can I make a good aluminum polish?

A. Mix ammonia and water in equal quantities, and then add the mixture to sufficient borax to make a paste about as thick as paint. Apply this with a thick, soft cloth, and then polish with a flannel.

Q. Is there any way I can repair hole that has been burned into a leather - covered table top?

A.. You can sometimes hide this by melting some candlewax of a matching color, pouring into the hole, and smoothing this out while it's still soft.

Q. How can I make a better job of cleaning ashtrays?

A. With denatured alcohol, a stiff brush, and lots of scrubbing. This procedure will clean either brass or copper ashtrays that are discolored by tobacco and nicotine.

4 Candidates List Expense

Four more East Liverpool candidates have filed expense statements for the Nov. 7 election with the County Election Board.

Bert A. Dawson listed expenses of $59.56 in his successful campaign for re-election as city treasurer on the Republican ticket.

Edward B. Massey, Democrat, elected Fourth Ward councilman said he spent $10 while James A. Moore, also a Democrat, listed expenditures of $69.60 in his unsuccessful bid for Council-at-large.

Richard T. Judge said he spent $12.60 in his campaign for a Board of Education seat.

Frank R. DeLonzo, Democrat named Third Ward councilman in Wellsville, reported expenses of $19.36 while Richard Kevan, Democrat, who sought the city treasurer's post, said his expenditures totaled $17.50.

Mrs. Mary E. (Betty) Rhodes, who was elected to the Southern-Franklin Local Board of Education, certified she was the person for whom the write-in votes were cast, paid a $1 filing fee and listed $3.97 in expenses. The statement and filing of the expense statement qualified her for a seat on the new board.

The expense statements are required under the Corrupt Practices Act for all candidates and for committees which supported or opposed any issue. The filing deadline is Dec. 22.

Court Frees Man In Assault Case

Robert O. (Bud) Mattern of Campground Rd. was freed on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon following a lengthy hearing Monday in Municipal Court.

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff ruled the evidence showed no crime was committed and that he couldn't hold Mattern for the Grand Jury on the charge, which is a felony.

The charge was filed by James Rayl of Carolina Ave., Maplewood, who accused Mattern of assaulting him with a hammer and tire iron on Nov. 20.

The judge said the testimony showed the argument started after Mattern traded a car transmission for a transistor radio. Rayl admitted he called Mattern names and lunged at him. When Mattern picked up the hammer, Rayl took it away and they wrestled on the ground, according to the testimony.

Strong Arm Of Law Picks Up 2 Youths

CINCINNATI (AP)—The strong arm of the law picked up two 16-year-old muscle-minded youths in suburban Roselawn Monday.

Army Planning More 'Homelike' Air For Soldiers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army wants its mess halls to seem more like home. So it has decided to feed its soldiers from glass dinnerware instead of institution-type trays.

The idea is aimed in part at providing "a more homelike atmosphere in enlisted men's mess halls," an Army statement said.

Another objective: to increase "appetite appeal" and thus get soldiers to waste less food.

The new dinnerware will be available in white, with either a green or burgundy band to dress it up.

It will include plates, bowls, cups and saucers, and two sizes of glass tumblers. Soldiers will be given plastic serving trays to carry the chow to their tables.

There is no target date for Army-wide conversion to the new tableware, the Army said. It will be up to individual commands to change over when they have the funds to do so.

Board To Consider Counties' Relief Pay

CINCINNATI (AP) — The state welfare controlling board will consider paying state funds to counties at its meeting Thursday, Sen. William R. Deddens, R-Cincinnati, said Monday night.

The senator, a member of the board, said the funds in question will probably be those set aside for payment in the fourth quarter of the fiscal year. This is the second quarter of the year.

Welfare departments throughout the state have been notified they will get less money for next month.

Deddens said the controlling board considered the fund-shifting proposal two weeks ago. He did not attend the meeting.

Fred Breyer, Hamilton County welfare director, said that without the state funds payments to at least 28,000 recipients may have to be reduced.

Virginia High Court Move May Reopen Public Schools

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A Virginia Supreme Court decision was seen today as the key that might reopen public schools closed in Prince Edward County in 1959 to avert race mixing.

The county's 1,700 Negro children of school age have gone largely without formal education in the two years since, while 1,400 white children have attended private, segregated schools.

The county school board, acting under a piece of "freedom of choice" legislation, declined to appropriate funds for school operation.

However, the Supreme Court, in an opinion outwardly unrelated to the school segregation issue, ruled Monday that the General Assembly is obligated to operate free public schools across the state.

While state officials declined comment on the ruling's implications in the historic Prince Edward case, the chief counsel for the Negro plaintiffs hailed the opinion as "great news."

Samuel W. Tucker, attorney for the plaintiffs said, "The court indicated its support of my chief argument for opening schools—that the county is required to do so by the constitution."

Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr., declined comment.

Negro plaintiffs in Prince Edward have petitioned the Virginia Supreme Court to compel the county to appropriate funds for "the operation and maintenance of free public schools."

Tucker said Monday's ruling shows the court has the authority to order the schools reopened.

Women's Stores Plan Corporation

CLEVELAND (AP)—A number of independent women's ready-to-wear stores in greater Cleveland will form a corporation early next year to gain a better competitive position in the city's changing market, according to the man who originally proposed the plan.

Myron J. Goldstein, owner of Chic Fashion Shoppes, Inc., stores here and in suburban Willoughby, said a meeting has been set for Jan. 17 for formal organization of the new corporation.

Goldstein had proposed the idea to some 170 stores here. The 21 store owners who approved the plan Monday will jointly own the new corporation. It will represent annual retail sales of $3 million, Goldstein said.

Doctor 90% Sure Ex-Gov. Knight Has Hepatitis

Gov. Goodwin J. Knight's doctor says he's 90 per cent sure the 64-year-old Republican has hepatitis and will need at least four weeks to recover.

The doctor's statement came as Knight's campaign aides were denying Monday that illness would knock him out of the 1962 gubernatorial contest.

Knight has been in a suburban Burbank hospital since Saturday and tests for infectious hepatitis were ordered. Results of the tests are not yet in hand.

Knight's press secretary, Bob Voight, sought to quiet rumors that Knight would abandon his battle with Richard Nixon for the GOP nomination.

"We're running a full campaign," said Voight.

City Motorist Cited In Crash Of Two Rigs

A city motorist was cited following a collision of two tractor-trailer rigs and a car Monday afternoon at 3:50 on Route 7 two miles north of Stratton.

The Wintersville State Highway Patrol said the crash involved a car driven by Marx Stone, 38, of 1722 Etruria St., and tractor-trailers driven by Benjamin J. Ranels, 31, of Youngstown and V. M. Gadd, 32, of Girard.

All were headed north. Officers said Stone halted on the highway and Ranels stopped behind him. The Ranels rig then was struck in the rear by the one driven by Gadd. The impact pushed the truck into the rear of Stone's car.

Stone was cited for stopping on the highway while Gadd was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance. Both will receive hearings Thursday before Judge Helen Huntsman at Toronto.

Court Frees Man In Assault Case

Robert O. (Bud) Mattern of Campground Rd. was freed on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon following a lengthy hearing Monday in Municipal Court.

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff ruled the evidence showed no crime was committed and that he couldn't hold Mattern for the Grand Jury on the charge, which is a felony.

The charge was filed by James Rayl of Carolina Ave., Maplewood, who accused Mattern of assaulting him with a hammer and tire iron on Nov. 20.

The judge said the testimony showed the argument started after Mattern traded a car transmission for a transistor radio. Rayl admitted he called Mattern names and lunged at him. When Mattern picked up the hammer, Rayl took it away and they wrestled on the ground, according to the testimony.
